ALEX G. SPANOS

Chairman of the Board

In 1951, at the age of 27, Alex Spanos worked night and day, seven days a week in his father's bakery. His growing family was struggling to make ends meet on $40 a week. The time came for Spanos to make the single toughest business decision of his life - whether to stay in the family business or strike out on his own.

Nearly 50 years later, Alex G. Spanos has transformed an $800 loan into a corporate giant ranked at the top of the national construction industry. As the founder and chairman of A.G. Spanos Companies, the nation's largest family-owned construction company, his commitment to excellence, quality and integrity are imprinted in the daily operation and management of the 12 companies that are wholly owned and managed by the Spanos family.

The success of the A.G. Spanos Companies allowed him to realize many dreams in his lifetime, including owning a National Football League team.

In 1984 when Spanos was offered the opportunity to purchase the Chargers, he put the decision to a vote before the companies' board of directors.

"The vote was 10 to two not to buy the ball club," he recalls. But the chairman used his veto power to overrule. "I told them, 'When you turn 60 you'll understand.'

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos characteristically said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a lifelong goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream." On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality.

Spanos' commitment and value to the NFL was recognized when NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue named him to the League's Expansion and Realignment Committee in 1991. He also serves on the League's Legislative Committee and the NFL Properties Executive Committee.

Prior to the 1994 season, Spanos turned over the day-to-day management of the organization to his son, Dean, but remains active in all business matters related to the team. This new role enables him to fully enjoy being the number-one fan of the Chargers and San Diego.

Throughout his storied life, Spanos has remained centered in his belief in family values and giving back to the community.

Though one of the nation's most productive corporate businesses, the A.G. Spanos organization continues as a family-run operation. The family works as a unit with trust and confidence in each other to guide the direction and actions of the company. Eldest son Dean serves as President/Vice Chairman of the Chargers and the Spanos corporate organization. Son Michael manages the construction and development activities in the western and southeastern divisions of the company and is the Executive Vice President of the Chargers. Together, they are the driving force behind each business venture.

Spanos' belief in giving back to the community has paid countless dividends to San Diego. Most recently Alex led the effort to bring Super Bowl XXXVII to San Diego in January, 2003. This marks the second time in five years that Spanos has delivered the Super Bowl and focused the world's attention on San Diego.

Alex and his son, Dean, showed their long-term commitment to San Diego by inking a new lease with the City through the year 2020.

"I have never been so happy," said Spanos after solidifying the team's future in San Diego. "I love this city.

"The greatest feeling I've ever had in my career was watching the San Diego Chargers get to the Super Bowl," he added. "It was a tremendous accomplishment for this organization. What I enjoyed most was watching the fans enjoy it. The city deserved it. Our fans deserved it."

His dedication to the team and the City of San Diego has been evident throughout his ownership.

During the 1998 offseason, Spanos announced the creation of the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund in honor of retiring quarterback Stan Humphries and a six-figure contribution to San Diego Children's Hospital in Brooke's name. Stan's daughter Brooke underwent major surgery to correct a heart birth defect.

Spanos is widely credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego, which was played Jan. 25, 1998. The game brought close to $300 million to the community. Spanos and his family kicked off Super Bowl week by chairing and contributing $100,000 to the Children's Hospital Super Ball. During the festivities he contributed the same amount to the national Christmas in April program.

In 1995, the Alex G. Spanos San Diego Foundation was created and funded by Spanos to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live." Simultaneously, Spanos announced that the first project of the Foundation would be a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum, for which he serves on the advisory board. With a focus on youth and education, Spanos and the Foundation have contributed millions of dollars to support San Diego charities and organizations. Recently, the foundation was renamed San Diego Chargers Charities and will maintain the same mission to benefit San Diego.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the city and the people who have been so supportive of me, my family and the Chargers over the years."

In 1995, Spanos donated more than $100,000 for the development of a multi-use sports facility for the Pacific Beach community and the students of Kate Sessions Elementary and The Bishops School. The Alex G. Spanos Sports Fields were dedicated in 1997.

His leadership was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the city. In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with a $100,000 pledge and challenge to the local community.

Spanos has been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. He annually sponsors the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos All-Star Football Classic in 1993.

Spanos built the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California-San Diego where the Chargers hold summer training camp.

He has been a leading contributor to Children's Hospital in San Diego, and served as chairman of their first Miracle Network Telethon. He also has served as chairman of the San Diego County Easter Seals Telethon and the Loaned Executive campaign drive for United Way/CHAD.

Spanos' philanthropy extends across the globe.

In 1998, Spanos' generosity paid off with separate $1 million donations to three different institutions in California. His support of his alma mater, The University of the Pacific, improved the stadium, athletic facilities and residence halls for the entire student population and lured the San Francisco 49ers training camp to the school. A similar contribution to Sacramento State University's athletic facilities will enable the university to host the 2000 Olympic track and field trials.The same support also went to rebuild the Samuel N. Hancock Christian School, a private school in an urban area of Stockton. In 1997 he gave $1 million to the American Red Cross to help flood victims in Northern California and promised to help raise an additional $1 million.

Many individuals have felt Spanos' kindness over the years. Whether supplying his personal jet to transport those in need to distant countries such as Cambodia or Argentina; or help furnish a young paralyzed high school athlete with a specially equipped van, Spanos is renown for his generosity.

Spanos spearheaded the top fund-raising campaign during the Gulf War crisis and delivered the most successful fund-raising event in the history of the United Service Organization. In 1991, he chaired the U.S.O.'s Golden Anniversary Salute Luncheon that raised more than $4.5 million.

Spanos also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fund-raising "Evening of Elegance" dinners benefiting assorted children's charities including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center. Proceeds from the last "Evening of Elegance" held in 1985 topped the $1 million mark.

Organizations in San Diego and across the country have honored Spanos often for his generosity. He has received the top awards given in San Diego by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce, the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau, and the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs.

Nationally, such organizations as Volunteers of America, Pop Warner Youth Football, Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and the American Cinema Awards Foundation have honored Spanos with their top awards. Former President Gerald Ford and his wife, Betty, presented the Gloria Swanson Humanitarian Award from the American Cinema Awards Foundation for "his numerous contributions to the arts and educational institutions as well as civic and athletic organizations."

A son of Greek immigrants, Spanos' hard work and determination to succeed were recognized in 1986 when he was one of a select group of 80 Americans awarded the Ellis Island Medal of Honor by the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation and the New York Statue of Liberty Commission.

Spanos is Honorary Regent of the University of the Pacific and a Trustee of the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Springs. The University of the Pacific awarded him an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree on the same day he gave the commencement address to the 1984 graduating class.

This long list of accomplishments and awards demonstrates the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community have been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos was born September 28, 1923, in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting at age eight in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own. He began his own catering business serving migrant farm workers in the San Joaquin Valley. Spanos later began investing in real estate and in 1960 formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Spanos is the founder and chairman of 11 companies bearing his name: A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Properties, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Marketing, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; A.G. Spanos Jet Center; A.G. Spanos Land Company and The Spanos Corporation.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, they sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning teams in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am in Epsom, England (1980).

Alex and his wife, Faye, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on Aug. 22, 1998. The couple has four children, Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael, and 15 grandchildren. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President/Vice Chairman

Dean Spanos' presence has been felt throughout the organization and the San Diego community since the day his family moved to La Jolla, California in 1984.

He has been overseeing the business and football operations of the San Diego Chargers since he took over as President/Vice Chairman in 1994. Dean is responsible for the management and administration of personnel and all fiscal matters of the Chargers. He also plays a prominent role in league affairs and represents the team at all league meetings.

After his father, Alex Spanos, purchased majority interest in the team on Aug. 1, 1984, Dean was the man behind the scenes for the Chargers while serving as President of all Spanos corporate entities and Vice Chairman of the AGS Financial Corporation. For the past 28 years, Dean has been working alongside his father in apartment construction and land development. He is responsible for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization. In addition to his role in the Spanos Corporation, Dean was handed the day-to-day operations of the Chargers in January 1994 and now carries of full burden of running both organizations.

The Chargers didn't wait long to enjoy the benefits of Dean's guidance. Less than a year later, in January 1995, the Chargers were playing in Super Bowl XXIX in Miami, Florida.

Following the recent retirement of long-time general manager Bobby Beathard this offseason, Dean developed a smooth transition of leadership that allows the Chargers to continue on the present course that saw the team win four of its final five games. Spanos elevated Ed McGuire, the team's coordinator of football operations, to Vice President of Football Operations in charge of all football decisions for the Chargers. McGuire, one of the league's foremost experts on the NFL's collective bargaining agreement and salary cap, had handled all player contract negotiations and the salary cap. By elevating McGuire and utilizing the skill and experience of Head Coach Mike Riley and Director of Player Personnel Billy Devaney, the team will realize the value of continuity and consistency in developing a winning organization.

At the same time that Dean was re-structuring the football operations side of the organization, he continued the long-standing tradition of community support by the Spanos family and the Chargers. In March Dean announced a huge five-year program entitled "Chargers Champions" that encompasses the team's on-going support of youth, education and high school football as well as its long-standing community service programs.

Chargers Champions primarily benefits students, schools and educators that are "Making the Difference" for San Diego's future. At the first Chargers Champions Honors Dinner this offseason, 22 outstanding high school juniors were chosen from 300 applicants and awarded $7,500 scholarships and lap top computers. In addition in 2001, the Chargers Champions program will award 11 grants to schools as well as 11 grants to San Diego's most-deserving educators.

Local students received a giant boost when the Spanos family and Chargers Champions supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools. This major public-private partnership will provide more than 1,000 extra-curricular opportunities for students, opportunities that have proven to enhance academic achievement, self discipline, self esteem and school attendance.

The Chargers have taken every opportunity to bring students with a parent to the stadium to experience a Chargers game. In 1998 the team purchased and contributed more than 40,000 tickets ($1.5 million) for deserving students through the Touchdowns for Youth Partnership for Education. In cooperation with the San Diego County Office of Education, the Touchdowns for Youth program rewarded students who showed outstanding attendance in addition to academic achievement and leadership. In 1997-98, more than 75,000 students enjoyed a day at a Chargers game, courtesy of the Touchdowns for Youth program. By using Chargers tickets as incentives for outstanding attendance, schools in San Diego County last year alone realized an increase in state funding (which is based on "average daily attendance") of approximately $6 million due to Touchdowns for Youth.

Another huge economic benefit to the community came in 1998 when Dean and Alex secured Super Bowl XXXVII (January 2003) for the City of San Diego. It will be the second time in five years that the City of San Diego enjoys the huge financial windfall that comes from hosting a Super Bowl.

Dean again showed the Spanos family's commitment to San Diego by negotiating a new lease with the City extending through the year 2020. The agreement also expanded 34-year-old Qualcomm Stadium to accommodate nearly 71,000 fans. Spanos oversaw the plans and construction of the team's new practice facility, which is among the finest in the National Football League. The new facility was completed in August 1997.

"This new lease ensures that the Chargers will always be the pride of our community," Dean said.

Dean is a major contributor throughout the San Diego business and civic community. He is on the board of directors of the San Diego International Sports Council, an elite group of San Diego business executives whose purpose is to promote and enhance sports of all kinds in San Diego. Dean also is on the board of the San Diego Economic Development Corporation, the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce as well as the San Diego Inner-City Games. He has been a major contributor and supporter of Children's Hospital, the American Cancer Society in San Diego and the United Way.

Dean's busy career in business and the National Football League hasn't hampered his status as one of the nation's most successful amateur golfers. An avid golfer since his college years, he has been on the winning team in four Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where he teamed with Hubert Green. He was on the winning team at the Hope Classic again in 1991. Spanos and Green won the Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach in 1985, where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Also in 1985, he was on the winning team in the Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas with Billy Casper.

Dean Alexander Spanos was born May 26, 1950, in Stockton. He earned varsity letters as a member of the Lincoln High School football and golf teams in Stockton. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Dean continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California, from which he received a degree in business administration in 1972. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a Regent at the university.

Dean and his wife, Susie, reside in La Jolla, California. Susie was named the 1999 Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community. She is active in and on the board of many charitable organizations in San Diego. She has been a driving force in support of the San Diego Blood Bank and its umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation. Son Alexander Gus (July 2, 1978) is a recent graduate of the business school at the University of Southern California. As a freshman he attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. He received six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School. Son John Dean (Nov. 7, 1979) is a junior at Wake Forest University majoring in business. He is in his sixth year working in the Chargers' organization, mostly in the player personnel department. While at The Bishops School in La Jolla, he earned nine varsity letters in a variety of sports, including football, basketball and golf, and played on three championship teams.

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael Spanos, the youngest son of Alex Spanos and Executive Vice President of all the A.G. Spanos companies, assumed the same position in the Chargers' management team in 1995.

Michael assists Chargers President/Vice Chairman Dean Spanos in financial and management matters and other relative areas pertaining to the ball club and the National Football League.

Michael has been an executive in the Spanos corporate organization for 19 years. He is responsible for all activities in construction, property management and land acquisition in the Southeast United States and Northern California. Born in Stockton, California, in 1959, he attended Lincoln High School and then the University of the Pacific, where he earned a bachelor's degree in business administration.

In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific where he served for five years. He also served as a trustee on the Board of Dameron Hospital and is very active in the Greek Orthodox Church. He contributes both his time and resources to the church and many other charitable causes in his hometown of Stockton.

Michael and his wife, Helen, live with their children in Stockton.

ED McGUIRE

Vice President of Football Operations

12th NFL Season,
3rd with Chargers

After two seasons as the Chargers' Coordinator of Football Operations, Ed McGuire was promoted by team President Dean Spanos to Vice President of Football Operations following the retirement of General Manager Bobby Beathard during the 2000 offseason.

"The buck stops with Ed in all football decisions for the San Diego Chargers," said Spanos upon McGuire's elevation to Vice President of Football Operations. "His expertise in player contract negotiations and his knowledge of the salary cap are second to none. Our football operations are in good hands with Ed."

In his new role, McGuire is in charge of all football operations for the Chargers. He oversees all player contract negotiations as well as the day-to-day business and administrative operations of the scouting department, coaching department, equipment and video departments, training staff, and strength and conditioning staff.

"Bobby had been contemplating retirement for some time," said Spanos. "So I asked Bobby to help me plan for this day and make sure the Chargers would be in good hands for the future. Continuity is a very valuable commodity in this league. With Ed, Billy Devaney and Mike Riley already in place, I'm confident we'll continue on course to produce a playoff-caliber team year after year for our fans."

McGuire originally joined the Chargers in 1998 as Coordinator of Football Operations where he oversaw the day-to-day operations of the player personnel department and handled player contract negotiations. He also monitored the players' payroll in regards to the NFL's salary cap.

"Bobby left this organization in great shape," said McGuire. "I'm stepping into a very good situation. We made some great progress last season and this offseason. I feel my number one mission right now is to keep us on our present track and help Mike and Billy any way that I can.

"Our player personnel department is one of the best in all of football," added McGuire. "Billy will have total control of the draft and all player acquisitions. Billy has been scouting the colleges and evaluating players in this league for more than 20 years. His knowledge and experience is invaluable."

McGuire served as the senior manager of labor operations for the NFL's Management Council from 1996-98. Prior to that, he was the league's manager of player personnel from 1991-96. He originally joined the NFL in 1987 as a player personnel analyst. Before coming to the NFL, McGuire worked in the personnel department for the United States Football League from 1984-86.

"When Dean came to me and told me of his plans, he said he wouldn't do it if I wasn't completely comfortable with it," said Head Coach Mike Riley. "I was ecstatic. Ed has a real knack at negotiations and making sure we get the most out of the salary cap. Billy and I think alike when it comes to players. And all three of us communicate and work well together. From my standpoint, this is the best possible situation."

During his tenure with the National Football League office, McGuire became a leading expert on the NFL's salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement, created in 1993 between the NFL and the NFL Players' Association.

"Ed's low-key personality belies one of the NFL's bright young minds," said NFL Executive Vice President of Labor Relations Harold Henderson. "He helped develop and administer the intricate details of the Collective Bargaining Agreement and the salary cap. The Chargers are fortunate to have Ed leading their front office team."

Born January 18, 1962, in Riverhead, New York, McGuire graduated with a degree in athletic administration in 1984 from St. John's University in Jamaica, New York. He played football and baseball at Riverhead High School.

McGuire and his wife, Jane, have two children, son Kevin (Aug. 8, 1993) and daughter, Shannon (May 9, 1997) and reside in Rancho Bernardo, California.

Mike Nowak

Ed McGuire was named Vice President of Football Operations on April 25, 2000, after the retirement of General Manager Bobby Beathard.

MIKE RILEY

Head Coach

2nd NFL Season,
2nd with Chargers

When Mike Riley was named the 12th head coach in Chargers history on January 10, 1999, his resume had one dominant theme: WINNING.

Canadian Football League: three Grey Cup championships, including two as a head coach. College: two national championships, including one as a player at Alabama and one as a coach at Linfield College, and three major bowl victories, including the Rose, Cotton and Freedom bowls during his tenure as an assistant coach at the University of Southern California. High school: state championships in football, basketball and baseball as a senior quarterback, forward and center fielder, respectively.

"He's always been a winner," said then-Chargers General Manager Bobby Beathard upon Riley's hiring. "He's got a great knowledge of the game, not just on offense, but on both sides of the ball. He's able to get so much out of his players. He makes them believe in themselves. It's just incredible how he can make guys, as individuals, and the team, believe that they can do what he wants. He really prepares them."

In his first season in San Diego, Riley proved Beathard's prophetic words by leading the Chargers to a record of 5-3 in the AFC West, the best intra-divison mark in the West. The Chargers enjoyed wins over each of their AFC Western Division rivals in 1999, including a sweep of the two-game series with eventual division winner Seattle and splits with Denver, Kansas City and Oakland. San Diego's 5-3 mark in the division came on the heels of back to back 1-7 marks in the AFC West, and the Chargers' third-place finish was their best ranking in the division since 1996.

Riley guided the Chargers to an overall record of 8-8 in 1999. When the Chargers won their '99 season opener in Cincinnati, Riley became the first San Diego head coach to win his debut in a season opener since Sid Gillman led the Chargers to victory in his first game in 1960, the inaugural year of the franchise. The Chargers had a record of 3-3 against teams that would eventually make the playoffs in 1999, including two wins over Seattle and one at Detroit, compared to losses to Indianapolis, at Minnesota and at Miami.

"One thing that Mike brought to the San Diego Chargers was great communication," said Chargers Chairman of the Board Alex Spanos. "Communication not only with owners, coaches, but with players. He relates to them so well.

"The players believe in him, and that's big. If you believe in an individual, no matter who he is, you'll do whatever it takes to win for that person."

"The players see a lot of truth and honesty in Mike," said Chargers Chairman/Vice President Dean Spanos. "He's very straightforward. The players see that in him immediately. There's a natural bond that's created there, and that's why the players call him a players' coach."

His ability to communicate with the players and make them believe in him were crucial in 1999. After opening the season with a record of 4-1, the Chargers suffered through a six-game midseason losing streak before rebounding with four wins in the final five games of the year.

"None of the players gave up on him, and everybody stayed positive, even through the hardest parts of the losing streak," said Dean Spanos. "It was a true testament of how much the players, coaches and everybody on this team respects Mike."

Riley has 25 years of coaching experience. He has spent nine seasons as a head coach, including one in the NFL (1999), two on the collegiate level (Oregon State, 1997-98), four in the Canadian Football League (Winnipeg, 1987-90) and two in the World League (San Antonio, 1991-92).

Prior to joining the Chargers, Riley spent two seasons as head coach at Oregon State where he helped resurrect one of college football's most downtrodden programs.

In 1998, he guided the Beavers to the school's best record in 27 years with a mark of 5-6. The '98 season was highlighted by an exciting 44-41 overtime victory over in-state rival Oregon in the annual "Civil War." The Beavers were competitive throughout the season against some of the country's most talented teams. Oregon State nearly upset several of its tough Pac-10 opponents, including a last-second 41-34 defeat at the hands of conference champions UCLA, a 20-19 loss to California and a hard-fought 35-34 defeat to the Huskies in Washington.

In his first season as head coach of the Beavers in 1997, Riley's teams earned a record of 3-8.

Prior to his stint at Oregon State, Riley served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach at the University of Southern California from 1993-96. During that time, the Trojans won three bowl games, including the Rose, Cotton and Freedom bowls, finished first in the Pac-10 (1995), tied for the conference title (1993) and were second in the conference (1994).

It was at USC that Riley solidified his reputation as a superior coaching strategist and as a teacher who is able to get the most out of his pupils.

"I love that guy," said Tampa Bay Buccaneer wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson, the first player chosen in the 1996 NFL Draft who studied under Riley at USC. "When I first got to play for him, I was just someone running around the field in high school and junior college. But he taught me how to read coverages, understand what quarterbacks are doing, why players do different things. He helped me become the No.1 pick."

"He's the man. He's probably the coolest coach under pressure I've ever seen," said Buffalo Bills quarterback Rob Johnson, who like Keyshawn was tutored by Riley at USC. "He doesn't have an ego, first of all, besides being a great coach. He's a good man."

Under Riley, the Trojans topped the Pac-10 in total offense and ranked second in passing offense in 1995. USC ranked 25th in the nation in passing (248.7 yards per game) in 1996 and also defeated Notre Dame for the first time in 14 years.

While playing for Riley, Rob Johnson set 20 NCAA, Pac-10 and USC records and became the Trojans' all-time passing leader. Another of Riley's charges, wide receiver Johnnie Morton, became USC's and the Pac-10's career receiving leader with 201 catches for 3,201 yards. After Morton, Keyshawn Johnson picked up the torch by setting school records for passes caught in a single season with 102 in 1995 and for most 100-yard games in a season with nine in 1994. Keyshawn ranks second in school history in receptions (176) and receiving yards (2,940) after playing for Riley and the Trojans for two seasons.

All three players earned first-team All-Pac-10 honors before becoming first-round draft picks and moving onto successful NFL careers.

"He's a great guy to play for," said Green Bay Packers offensive lineman John Michels, also a first-round pick in 1996 out of USC. "The Chargers are real fortunate to have him as the head guy. He's very personable...works well with players...a great motivator. He's so intelligent...understands the game...understands how to win. I believe he was a big reason for the success we had while I was at USC, winning the (1996) Rose Bowl my senior year. The guys just loved playing for him."

"I like being around teams," explained Riley. "I like the fact that teams are made up of all sorts of individuals, different kinds of guys. That's one of the great things about sports, building a group of guys that become a team.

"Another thing I like about coaching football is the strategy of the game. I've always spent a lot of time trying to tweak things, look at things that might help a little bit. That's been a big, big part of my career is the research of what we are doing and how we can make it better."

In addition to his growing renown as a winner, outstanding football technician and developer of players, Riley has garnered an even more prevalent reputation: a genuine nice guy.

The saying, "Nice guys finish last," doesn't apply to Mike Riley.

"If you go to heaven and you look around and Mike Riley isn't there, you'll know you're not in heaven," said University of Nevada-Las Vegas coach John Robinson, who was the head coach at Southern California while Riley was there. "I challenge you to find one guy that says one bad thing about him. I wish I was as good a man as Mike Riley."

"He's a gentleman," said former NFL and CFL quarterback and current ESPN football analyst Sean Salisbury who played for Riley in Winnipeg. "He's ten times a better man than he is a football coach, and he's a heck of a football coach. Mike Riley is one of those guys that if he had to bench somebody, he could bench him and the guy would still love him. He will handle any situation that comes up. Look no further than (Buccaneers coach) Tony Dungy to find out the kind of demeanor he has, and Tony has no problem getting people to react to him. He treats you with respect and just asks that you do the same. As a player, that's all that you can ask. He's not a fence-sitter. Mike was honest from the day I arrived to the day I left."

Before helping the USC program flourish, Riley served as the head coach of the San Antonio Riders of the World League of American Football from 1991-92. Riley led the Riders to a record of 11-9 over two seasons, including 4-6 in 1991 and 7-3 in 1992. During his tenure with the Riders, Riley was instrumental in the development of Jason Garrett, who went on to become a member of the Dallas Cowboys.

"All I can say is he's one of the best guys I've been around in football," said Garrett. "It was the first year of the World League and there were so many different circumstances that came up and he just handled so many different things so well. Football-related stuff, logistical-related stuff, he always put everybody at ease. It was a great quality to have. In hindsight, of all his qualities, that was the one that amazed me the most."

Before his time at San Antonio, Riley spent the 1987-90 seasons as the head coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Canadian Football League, where he earned a record of 40-32 and two Grey Cup Championships. Riley was named the CFL Coach of the Year following the 1988 and '90 seasons after each of his team's Grey Cup victories.

Riley took his first trip north of the border to serve as the secondary coach of the Blue Bombers for three years (1983-85) under head coach Cal Murphy. The Blue Bombers amassed a record of 32-15-1, including the 1984 Grey Cup championship, during Riley's three years as the secondary coach.

In 1986, he returned to the United States as the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Northern Colorado University.

From 1977-82 Riley was the defensive coordinator, secondary coach and assistant athletic director at perennial small-college powerhouse Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon. It was his first full-time coaching position and it gave him a chance to work for Ad Rutschman, a coach Mike says is "the best teacher of football I have ever been around."

Linfield had a record of 52-7-1 during Riley's six-year stint, including a perfect 12-0 record in 1982 to win the NAIA National Championship. Linfield produced records of 8-1, 9-1, 6-3-1, 9-1, 8-2 and 12-0 during his six years as defensive coordinator. Linfield was the conference champion in five of Riley's six years at the school.

Riley's experiences at Linfield left a deep impression.

"Coaching at Linfield was truly a great experience," said Riley. "It's a program that has the longest consecutive streak for winning seasons in college football. I still use a lot of the things that I learned there."

In 1976 Riley served as a graduate assistant on defense while completing his master's degree at Whitworth College in Spokane, Washington. At Whitworth, he worked under another coaching legend in the Northwest, Hugh Campbell.

Riley's first stop on his climb up the coaching ladder was at the University of California under head coach Mike White as a defensive graduate assistant in 1975. The Golden Bears were co-champions of the Pac-10 with a record of 8-3 that year.

Riley's path to coaching started at an early age.

"As a little, little, little kid, Mike would cut a basket out of cardboard. We'd hang it on a door inside the house and he'd shoot a ball into it," said his father, Bud, a former coach who is now retired. "But he wouldn't start playing until his mom (Mary) sang the national anthem."

While growing up in Corvallis, Mike and his buddies always had something to do.

"We were all like-minded, all gym rats," said Riley. "We practiced all week, met on weekends and played all day. We could always find a place to play. Kids talk about having nothing to do in Corvallis, but for us, it was full of what we wanted to do."

In addition to a love of sports, coaching was in his blood. His father, Bud, served as an assistant coach and defensive coordinator under Dee Andros at Oregon State from 1965 through 1972 while Mike was growing up. Bud later became a head coach in the Canadian Football League, first at Winnipeg and then at Hamilton and Calgary.

Mike's first taste of the championship level was as a senior at Corvallis High School when he quarterbacked the Spartans to the 1970 state football championship.

In the course of a single year, Corvallis

High won Oregon's largest school championships in football, basketball and baseball. Riley was the point guard on the basketball team and the center fielder on the baseball team.

Nine of the 15 players on that Corvallis High state championship basketball team, three decades ago, are now coaching.

"No coincidence," said Riley. "All any of us ever did was sports. We never thought about things like rain; we just got out the rubber ball."

Following his graduation from Corvallis High School, Mike was recruited by the University of Alabama, where he played defensive back under Paul "Bear" Bryant for four years (1971-74). During that period, the Crimson Tide won the 1973 national crown and four Southeastern Conference (SEC) titles. He graduated from Alabama in 1975 with a bachelor's degree in social science.

Part of the reason Riley went to Alabama was to follow in the footsteps of one of his football idols: quarterback Joe Namath, whose career Riley had followed since Namath was a quarterback for the Crimson Tide.

"I think if I could be one player in any sport at a given time it would be Joe Namath in Super Bowl III," said Riley. "He had the Fu Manchu mustache, the white shoes, and I'm not into this type of thing, but when he made that prediction, that was really exciting. I was probably the only guy in my school who was rooting for the Jets in that game."

It was at Alabama that Mike would also meet his future wife, Dee.

"Down in Tuscaloosa, the fact that he didn't have an accent made Mike sound like he had one," said Dee. "I just liked the fact that when he didn't understand something, he said, 'Pardon?' instead of 'Huh?'

"He was so different. He was so... Oregonian."

Michael Joe Riley was born July 6, 1953, in Wallace, Idaho. Mike and Dee have a son, Matthew (July 31, 1984), and a daughter, Kate (Feb. 6, 1988).

"We're ecstatic about being back in Southern California," said Mike. "My family and I really like the simple things...leaving the windows open to feel the ocean breeze, walking on the beach, getting in the water.

"Plus the people have been so warm and friendly," added Riley. "Coming to San Diego is like a dream come true for us."

Portions of Mike Riley's bio were taken from an article written by Chris Jenkins that appeared in the San Diego Union-Tribune on January 17, 1999.

ASSISTANT COACHES

JOE PASCALE

Defensive Coordinator

15th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Joe Pascale, a veteran of 33 years of coaching, is in his fourth season as San Diego's defensive coordinator.

Pascale's years of coaching experience include 14 in the National Football League, two in the United States Football League, four in the Canadian Football League and 13 years in the collegiate ranks. During his career, he has coached every position on defense and has been a defensive coordinator in the NFL, CFL and in college.

Over the past two seasons, Pascale and his staff have guided the NFL's stingiest defense against the run. Last year, the Chargers allowed opponents just 3.1 yards per carry, tops in the league. It marked the second consecutive season that the Chargers have led the NFL in that category. The Chargers ranked third overall in the NFL in rushing yards allowed in 1999, holding opponents to 82.6 yards per game.

In 1998, Pascale was the architect of the NFL's number one ranked defense. San Diego's defense led the league in several defensive categories in 1998, including total yards allowed (4,208), total rushing yards allowed (1,140), yards allowed per game (263.0), rushing yards allowed per game (71.3), opponent yards per carry (2.7), opponent yards per play (4.2) and average yards allowed on first down (3.84).

Perhaps the most impressive statistic from the 1998 season was that the Chargers' defense held opponents to just 2.7 yards per rushing attempt, the lowest total by any NFL team since 1951. In 1998, San Diego's defense led the NFL by allowing just 1,140 total rushing yards, which was the fourth-best total since 1978.

In addition to leading the NFL in several defensive categories in 1998, Pascale's defense also ranked in the top three in other areas, including opponent completion percentage (.511, second in NFL), rushing first downs allowed (72, third), total first downs allowed (256, third) and opponents success rate on third down (30%, second).

The Chargers' defense did not allow a 100-yard rusher in 1998, having faced several of the NFL's top rushers. Terrell Davis, who led the NFL with 2,008 yards while averaging 5.1 yards per carry during the 1998 season, was held to 69 and 74 yards on 20 and 24 carries, respectively, in two meetings against the Chargers for an average of 3.25 yards per carry. The Chargers also faced seven 1,000-yard rushers, and none rushed for more than 74 yards against the Chargers: Marshall Faulk (25 carries, 50 yards, 2.0 avg.), Eddie George (15-11, 0.7 avg.), Ricky Watters (18-32, 1.8 avg. and 21-69, 3.3 avg.), Antowain Smith (20-54, 2.7 avg.), Duce Staley (14-41, 2.9), Gary Brown (20-66, 3.3 avg.) and Adrian Murrell (18-25, 1.4 avg.). All were held below their season averages and the NFL's average of 4.0 yards per carry.

San Diego's success against the run was coupled with the team's improved pass defense. Only Miami (.500) allowed a lower completion percentage by its opponents than San Diego (.511). The Chargers' defense notched 39 sacks in 1998, up from 27 in 1997, and the team's most since recording 43 in 1994.

Pascale was originally named the Chargers' defensive coordinator on January 27, 1997. Before joining the Chargers, he spent three seasons (1994-96) as the linebackers coach of the Cincinnati Bengals. In 1996, the Bengals' defense led the NFL in takeaways with 44, including 34 interceptions and 10 fumble recoveries. Cincinnati's 34 interceptions also led the league in 1996.

Before joining the Bengals, Pascale spent eight seasons (1986-93) on the defensive staff of the Phoenix Cardinals.

Before his stint with the Cardinals, Pascale coached two seasons (1984-85) for the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League. Pascale spent four seasons coaching in the Canadian Football League, including two each with the Ottawa Rough Riders (1982-83) and Montreal Alouettes (1980-81). In each of his six seasons in the USFL and CFL, Pascale's teams made playoff appearances.

Pascale's coaching career began as an assistant coach at the University of Connecticut (1967-69). He then spent four seasons (1970-73) as an assistant at Rhode Island before working as an assistant at Idaho State for two seasons (1974-75). In 1976, he was the head coach at Idaho State. He spent his last three seasons (1977-79) in the collegiate ranks as an assistant coach at Princeton.

Pascale played linebacker, nose tackle and offensive guard at Connecticut for four seasons (1963-66). He also played defense on the school's lacrosse team. He earned bachelor's and master's degrees in education and completed an advanced graduate curriculum in education administration at Connecticut.

Joseph Vincent Pascale was born April 17, 1946, in New York City. He played two years of football both at Cardinal Hayes High School in the Bronx, New York, and Lakeland High School in Peekskill, N.Y.

Joe and his wife, Lucille, have a son, Joseph (March 22, 1977), and reside in Coronado, California.

JOE BUGEL

Offensive Supervisor/ Offensive Line

25th NFL Season, 3rd with Chargers

Joe Bugel, a veteran of 35 years of coaching, including 24 in the National Football League, is the Chargers offensive supervisor and is in his third season as San Diego's offensive line coach.

"I'm so excited that Joe Bugel is a part of our coaching staff," said Chargers Head Coach Mike Riley. "His experience, leadership and knowledge of the NFL are so important to this team. His enthusiasm is incredibly contagious. I can see why guys love playing for him."

Over the past two seasons, Bugel has fused the Chargers' proven veteran offensive linemen with the team's talented youngsters. Experienced tackle Vaughn Parker, as well as center Roman Fortin, the only Chargers' offensive linemen to start every game over the 1998-99 seasons, have lined up alongside promising young guards Kendyl Jacox and DeMingo Graham. Bugel also has been instrumental in the development of San Diego's most-versatile lineman, Raleigh Roundtree, who has started at every position along the line except center over the past two years.

Before joining the Chargers in 1998, Bugel spent three seasons (1995-97) with Oakland, serving as assistant head coach/ offense from 1995-96 before being elevated to head coach for the 1997 season. Prior to working in Oakland, Bugel was the head coach for the Arizona Cardinals for four seasons (1990-93).

In his 18 seasons as an NFL assistant, Bugel's teams have posted a record of 164-110 (.598 winning percentage), including 13 winning seasons and eight playoff appearances. Bugel has participated in three Super Bowls, six conference championship games and 21 playoff contests.

From 1981-89, Bugel was in charge of the offensive line for the Washington Redskins where he developed the famous "Hogs" offensive line. He began as the Redskins' offensive coordinator in 1981 and was promoted to assistant head coach in charge of the offensive line in 1983. Under Bugel's direction, the Redskins scored a then NFL-record 541 points (1983), had four 1,000-yard rushers, one 4,000-yard passer and nine 1,000-yard receivers.

Washington won two Super Bowls while Bugel was with the team following the 1982 and 1987 seasons.

From 1977-80, Bugel was the offensive line coach for the Houston Oilers, during which time the team set records in rushing and passing.

Bugel entered the professional coaching ranks as the offensive line coach for the Detroit Lions from 1975-76.

He also worked at Ohio State (1974) under Woody Hayes, Iowa State (1973), Navy (1969-72) and his alma mater, Western Kentucky (1964-68).

Born March 10, 1940, in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, Bugel was a two-way star in football at Munhall High School. He attended Western Kentucky University and was an all-conference guard and linebacker from 1960-63.

Bugel earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1963 and a master's degree in counseling in 1964, both from Western Kentucky.

Bugel and his wife, Brenda, have three daughters, Angie (Jan. 22, 1970), Holly (Aug.16, 1972) and Jennifer (Oct. 13, 1976).

The Bugels live in Coronado.

GEEP CHRYST

Offensive Coordinator

10th NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

Geep Chryst, a 13-year coaching veteran, including nine in the NFL, is in his second season as San Diego's offensive coordinator.

"Geep has extensive background in the NFL, experience from the ground up," said Chargers Head Coach Mike Riley. "He started as a quality control coach working with offense, defense and special teams. His experience as quarterbacks coach of the Cardinals and working with Jake Plummer have been very valuable to us."

Chryst, who originally joined the Chargers' staff as offensive coordinator/quarterbacks coach prior to the 1999 season, has handed the quarterbacks coach duties to Mike Johnson in 2000.

Chryst was instrumental in the development and implementation of San Diego's "no-huddle" offensive attack in 1999. As a result, the Chargers completed 332 passes last year, the most since 1986 when they completed 339 in the final campaign under Head Coach Don Coryell.

Two veteran players, quarterback Jim Harbaugh and wide receiver Jeff Graham, benefited from San Diego's wide-open offensive scheme in 1999. Harbaugh passed for 2,761 yards, the second-highest single-season total of his 13-year NFL career (3,121 in 1991 with Chicago). Harbaugh also passed for more than 300 yards twice in '99, including a career best 404 yards at Minnesota on November 28, making him the only quarterback in Chargers history other than Dan Fouts to pass for 400 yards in a game.

Graham also had the second-highest yardage total of his career with 968 receiving yards (1,301 in 1995 with Chicago). Graham surpassed the 100-yard receiving mark four times and was voted by his teammates as the Chargers Offensive Player of the Year in 1999.

Chryst came to San Diego after spending the previous three seasons (1996-98) with the Arizona Cardinals. He originally joined the Cardinals as tight ends and quality control coach from 1996-97 before becoming the team's quarterbacks coach prior to the 1998 season.

As the Cardinals' quarterbacks coach, Chryst helped tutor Plummer, who finished the 1998 campaign ranked third in the NFC and fourth in the league with 3,737 passing yards in his second NFL season. Plummer's emergence in 1998 helped the Cardinals reach the playoffs for the first time in a non-strike season since 1975.

Before his work with Plummer, Chryst was in charge of Arizona's tight ends.

Prior to joining the Cardinals, Chryst spent five seasons (1991-95) as director of research/quality control for the Chicago Bears. Before that, Chryst was the wide receivers/running backs coach for the Orlando Thunder of the World League in 1991.

In the spring of 1992, Chyrst, after being out of uniform for eight years, took a 15-day hiatus from the Bears to long snap in three playoff games for the short-handed Thunder.

From 1989-90, Chryst coached at the University of Wyoming, where he tutored the offensive line the first year and quarterbacks in 1990. In 1988, he was on the staff at the University of Wisconsin after beginning his coaching career at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville in 1987.

A 1984 graduate of Princeton with a bachelor's degree in history, Chryst also holds a master's degree in educational administration from Wisconsin. He was a three-year starter at linebacker and also played baseball for two years at Princeton.

Chryst comes from a very athletic family. His father, George, was a successful head football coach at Wisconsin-Platteville from 1980-92. George was instrumental in the formation of the "Cheese League," the annual influx of NFL training camps to Wisconsin colleges. He enticed the Chicago Bears to begin training at the Platteville campus in 1984. One of Geep's brothers, Paul, is the Chargers tight ends coach and his other brother, Rick, is assistant commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sisters Cathy and Dolly, were track stars in college; the former was an AAU sprint champion and the latter competed at Wisconsin.

George Patrick "Geep" Chryst was born June 25, 1962, in Madison, Wisconsin. Chryst's unique nickname is the result of the initials adorning his first Christmas stocking — "G.P." Chryst.

Chryst's wife Shelley was a scholarship volleyball player at Wyoming and played in the Women's Professional Volleyball Association in 1994. She was also an assistant volleyball coach at Northwestern (1994) and Wisconsin-Milwaukee (1995).

Geep and Shelley have two children, son Keller (Nov. 17, 1995) and daughter Gillian (July 14, 1997).

MARK BANKER

Defensive Assistant/ Secondary

2nd NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

Mark Banker is in his second season as the Chargers defensive assistant/secondary coach. Prior to joining the Chargers, he spent two seasons (1997-98) as the secondary coach on Mike Riley's staff at Oregon State.

"Mark is a very knowledgeable coach who spent 14 years as a defensive coordinator with an excellent football program at Cal State-Northridge," said Riley. "He has worked primarily as a defensive coach throughout his career and is a perfect fit with Joe Pascale's oustanding defensive staff that was in place when we got here."

In addition to serving as Oregon State's secondary coach, Banker was the Beavers' recruiting coordinator in 1998.

Prior to joining Riley's staff at Oregon State in 1997, Banker spent the 1996 season working with the defensive line and linebackers as a defensive assistant at the University of Southern California. In 1995, Banker coached the outside linebackers and was the special teams coordinator at the University of Hawaii.

Prior to his stint in Hawaii, Banker spent 14 seasons (1981-94) as the defensive coordinator at Cal State-Northridge. He started his coaching career in 1978 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Springfield College in Springfield, Massachusetts. He coached Springfield's tight ends in 1978 and the quarterbacks and running backs from 1979-80.

Banker was born January 15, 1956, in Plymouth, Massachusetts. He was a three-sport star in football, ice hockey and baseball at Plymouth-Carver High School. He earned 11 varsity letters in high school, including four in football, four in hockey and three in baseball. He was the captain of the hockey and baseball teams as a senior. He lettered for three seasons (1975-77) as a running back at Springfield, where he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1978 and a master's degree in educational administration in 1981.

Mark and his wife, Debbie, have three children, Chris (March 14, 1985), Jayme (March 21, 1987) and Kelsey (Feb. 24, 1989) and reside in Santee, California.

PAUL CHRYST

Tight Ends

2nd NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

Paul Chryst is in his second year as the Chargers tight end coach. He orignally came to San Diego prior to the 1999 season after spending the previous two years (1997-98) as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for Mike Riley's Oregon State squad.

"I was fortunate to bring Paul with me to San Diego," said Riley. "He has a deep understanding of what we are trying to do offensively, and his ability to share that with our tight ends is crucial to our offensive success, both in passing and running the ball."

Chryst is the brother of Geep Chyrst, who also joined Riley's staff in 1999 as quarterbacks coach/offensive coordinator from the Arizona Cardinals.

In his first season in San Diego, Paul helped continue the development of Freddie Jones into one of the NFL's top tight ends. Jones finished the 1999 season ranked third in the AFC among tight ends in catches (56) and second in receiving yards (670, a new career-high for Jones). Over his first three NFL seasons, Jones has caught 154 passes, the most by a Chargers tight end in a three-year span since Kellen Winslow caught 168 passes from 1983-85.

Prior to joining Riley's staff at Oregon State, Paul Chryst spent the 1996 season as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach of the Saskatchewan Roughriders of the Canadian Football League.

In 1995, Chryst served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Illinois State. In 1994, he was with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the CFL where he coached the quarterbacks, receivers and running backs. In 1993, he joined the staff of the Edmonton Eskimos and coached the wide receivers during training camp before accepting the position of offensive coordinator/quarterbacks and receivers coach at the University of Wisconsin-Platteville.

From 1991-92, Chryst was on Mike Riley's staff with the San Antonio Riders of the World League. In 1991, he was an assistant assigned to wide receivers and tight ends. In 1992, he coached the running backs and tight ends. Chryst started his coaching career as a graduate assistant at West Virginia, where he coached tight ends and offensive tackles in 1989 and wide receivers in 1990.

Chryst was born November 17, 1965, in Madison, Wisconsin. He earned letters in football, basketball, baseball and track at Platteville High School and was an all-state quarterback in 1983 when Platteville won the state football championship. Chryst continued his education and athletic career at the University of Wisconsin, where he earned a bachelor's degree in political science in 1988. He also earned three letters in football for the Badgers, where he played quarterback, linebacker, tight end, holder and long snapper on punts. He was a member of the 1984 Hall of Fame Bowl team. Chryst also earned a master's degree in educational administration from West Virginia in 1990.

Paul and Geep Chryst come from a very athletic family. Their father, George, was a successful head football coach at Wisconsin-Platteville from 1980-92. George was instrumental in the formation of the "Cheese League," the annual influx of NFL training camps to Wisconsin colleges. He enticed the Chicago Bears to begin training at the Platteville campus in 1984. Their brother, Rick, is assistant commissioner of the Atlantic Coast Conference. Paul's sisters, Cathy and Dolly, were track stars in college; the former was an AAU sprint champion and the latter competed at Wisconsin.

Paul and his wife, Robin, have two daughters, Katryn (Nov. 9, 1993) and Mikayla (Feb. 9, 1995), and one son, Danny (April 28, 1997), and reside in the Carmel Mountain Ranch area of San Diego.

MIKE JOHNSON

Quarterbacks

1st NFL Season,
1st with Chargers

Johnson joined the Chargers during the 2000 offseason as quarterbacks coach after spending the previous three seasons coaching the wide receivers (1997-98) and quarterbacks (1999) at Oregon State.

Prior to his time at Oregon State, Johnson spent four seasons (1993-96) as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Baldwin Park High School in Baldwin Park, California. He was the boys basketball head coach from 1994-96 and the girls basketball head coach during the 1993-94 seasons.

Johnson was born May 2, 1967, in Los Angeles, California. He earned 11 athletic letters at Baldwin Park High School, including three each in football, basketball, and baseball and two in track and field. As a junior and senior, he was named first-team All-CIF and first-team All-San Gabriel Valley in football (quarterback), basketball (forward) and baseball (first baseman/center fielder). He was drafted by the Seattle Mariners in the sixth round of the Major League Baseball draft as a senior.

After graduating from high school, Johnson attended Arizona State University from 1985-87. He was a member of the ASU football team as a redshirt freshman in 1985 and lettered as a backup quarterback in 1986. He transferred to Mesa Community College where he played quarterback for one season (1987) and was named first-team Junior College All-America by JC Gridwire. He then transferred to the University of Akron, where he played quarterback for two years (1988-89). He was named Akron's Athlete of the Year in 1990.

After graduating from the University of Akron in 1990 with a bachelor's degree in communications, Johnson was on the Arizona Cardinals' practice squad in 1990. He joined the San Antonio Riders of the World League in 1991 and was Riley's starting quarterback for the Riders during the 1991 and '92 seasons. Following the 1992 World League season, Johnson moved to the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League for the 1992 season and part of the 1993 campaign. He also quarterbacked the Shreveport Pirates of the CFL in 1994-95.

Michael and his wife, Louan, have daughter, Taylor (May 22, 1998) and son, Michael Jr. (November 30, 1999), and reside in Chula Vista.

WAYNE NUNNELY

Defensive Line

6th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Wayne Nunnely, who along with the rest of San Diego's defensive staff has helped the Chargers rank first in opponent yards per carry allowed in each of the past two NFL seasons, is in his fourth season as defensive line coach.

In 1999, Nunnely's defensive line helped the Chargers lead the NFL by allowing opponents to rush for just 3.1 yards per carry, marking the second-consecutive season San Diego has paced the NFL in that category.

In 1998, San Diego's defense was the best in the league at stopping the run. The Chargers led the NFL in rushing yards allowed per game (71.3) and opponent yards per carry (2.7) in 1998. Holding opponents to just 2.7 yards per rushing attempt was particularly impressive. It was the lowest total allowed by any NFL defense since 1951. In 1998, the Chargers' defense also led the NFL by allowing just 1,140 total rushing yards, which was the fourth best total since 1978 (excluding 1982).

San Diego's defense did not allow a 100-yard rusher in 1998, despite facing several of the NFL's top running backs, including 2,000-yard rusher Terrell Davis (69 and 74 yards) and 1,000-yard rushers Marshall Faulk (50), Eddie George (11), Ricky Watters (32 and 69), Antowain Smith (54), Duce Staley (41), Gary Brown (66) and Adrian Murrell (25). In fact, none of the players listed rushed for more than 75 yards in a single game against the Chargers in 1998.

Under Nunnely's guidance, defensive end Raylee Johnson and defensive tackle John Parrella have flourished. In 1999, Johnson and Parrella both had career seasons. Johnson led the Chargers with career-highs in sacks (10.5), and forced fumbles (five), while also setting his personal best with 41 tackles. Johnson's teammates voted him Co-Lineman of the Year for his efforts in 1999.

Parrella also had his best NFL season in 1999 with career-highs in sacks (5.5), tackles (53) and forced fumbles (three). His 53 tackles ranked fourth on the team last year.

Before joining the Chargers as defensive line coach prior to the 1997 season, Nunnely spent two seasons (1995-96) in the same capacity with the New Orleans Saints. In his two years with New Orleans, the Saints' defense ranked in the top five in the NFL in sacks and sacks per play. He first worked for the Saints in their training camp in 1994 as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program.

Prior to joining New Orleans full-time, Nunnely spent nearly 20 years as an assistant coach, head coach and administrator on the collegiate level. He spent two seasons (1993-94) as the defensive line coach at UCLA where he helped the Bruins win the 1993 Pac-10 championship and earn a Rose Bowl appearance. He also spent two seasons (1991-92) as the running backs coach at USC.

Nunnely's first job as a coach was at Valley High School in Las Vegas, Nevada, in 1975. He began his collegiate coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, the University of Nevada-Las Vegas, in 1976. His initial full-time job came at California Polytechnic University-Pomona, where he coached the running backs in 1977 and the defensive line in 1978. He moved to California State-Fullerton for one season (1979) where he coached the defensive line. He then went on to the University of the Pacific (1980-81), coaching running backs, before returning to UNLV (1982-85), where he served as running backs coach and helped the Rebels win their first PCAA and California Bowl championship in 1984.

In 1986, Nunnely was named head coach at UNLV, a post he manned for four seasons. At the time of his appointment, he was only the fifth African-American to be named head coach at the NCAA Division 1A level.

Nunnely played fullback and also lettered in track at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas for two seasons (1972-73), where he earned a bachelor's degree in physical education. He was selected by the school's faculty as Most Outstanding Male Physical Educator.

Wayne Benjamin Nunnely was born

March 29, 1952, in Los Angeles, California. He played football, basketball and track for Monrovia High School in Monrovia, California. He and his wife, Velda, have two sons, Channing (July 10, 1973) and Aaron (Oct. 27, 1986), and a daughter, Amber (July 30, 1983).

ROD PERRY

Defensive Backs

23rd NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Rod Perry, who has 22 years of experience in the National Football League as a player and coach, is in his fourth season as the Chargers defensive backs coach.

Perry has been crucial in the development of Rodney Harrison into one of the NFL's top safeties. In his second season under Perry in 1998, Harrison earned his first Pro Bowl bid after ranking second on the Chargers with 114 tackles and adding four sacks, three interceptions and 10 passes defensed.

"Coach Perry helped me become a complete student of the game," said Harrison. "He taught me that there is more to football than just running around on your God-given talent. You have to study your opponents and know what their tendencies are. Rod has helped me learn how to do that and how to reach my full potential."

In addition to helping San Diego's defense rank first in the league in 1998, Perry's secondary held San Diego's opponents to a completion percentage of .511, which ranked second in the NFL behind Miami's .500.

Perry has 12 years of NFL coaching experience. Before joining the Chargers in 1997, he spent the 1995-96 seasons as Houston's defensive backs coach. Under Perry's direction, former Oilers and current Chargers cornerback Darryll Lewis and safety Blaine Bishop made their first trips to the Pro Bowl.

Prior to joining the Oilers, Perry spent three seasons (1992-94) as the secondary coach of the Los Angeles Rams. He also served three seasons (1989-91) as the secondary coach with the Seattle Seahawks.

Perry joined Seattle after coaching four years at the collegiate level, including two years at Fresno State (1987-88) and one year each at Fresno City College (1986) and Columbia University (1985).

As a player, Perry was an All-Big Eight selection as a senior defensive back at the University of Colorado. He was selected by the Los Angeles Rams in the fourth round of the 1975 NFL Draft. He twice earned Pro Bowl honors (1978, 1980) and finished his eight-year stint (1975-82) with the Rams with 28 interceptions. He is a member of the Rams' 40th Anniversary All-Time Team. Perry concluded his professional playing career with the Cleveland Browns from 1983-84.

Rodney Perry was born September 11, 1953, in Fresno, California. He lettered in football, basketball and track at Hoover High in Fresno, California. Rod and his wife, Patrice, have three children, sons, Rodney (Feb. 1, 1979) and Ryan (Oct. 23, 1985), and daughter, Miranda (Oct. 26, 1994). Rod's oldest son Rodney was the California High School Football Player of the Year in 1996. He is now attending Penn State where he is playing football and baseball. Rodney was a member of the University of Southern California Trojans' 1998 NCAA Champion baseball team before transferring to Penn State.

BRUCE READ

Special Teams

2nd NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

Bruce Read, whose specialty units have set numerous records at each stop in his coaching career, was named by Head Coach Mike Riley as San Diego's special teams coach on January 25, 1999.

"Bruce has an enthusiasm and love for football that spreads to the players and other coaches," said Riley. "He's an exciting guy whose teams have had tremendous success blocking and returning kicks. Nothing turns a game around like big plays on special teams, and Bruce's units thrive on that."

In Read's first season guiding San Diego's special teams, his units continued their big-play trend by blocking three punts, including one that was recovered for a touchdown versus Indianapolis in Game 5.

According to statistics combined annually by the Dallas Morning News, the Chargers special teams units showed the greatest improvement in the NFL in 1999, Read's first year as San Diego's special teams coach. After an overall ranking of 21st in the NFL in 19 combined special teams categories in 1998, the Chargers jumped 15 spots to sixth under Read in 1999.

Read's coverage units helped punter Darren Bennett lead the NFL with a net punt average of 38.7 in 1999. Also under Read, John Carney continued his tenure as the NFL's most-accurate kicker. Carney enters the 2000 season with a career field goal percentage of 81.66 (245 of 300), first in NFL history among players with 100 or more career field goals.

Read has spent the past 13 seasons coaching special teams. Before joining the Chargers before the '99 season, he spent the previous two seasons (1997-98) as the special teams coach for Riley's Oregon State Beavers. Under Read's direction, Oregon State's special teams were responsible for 15 blocked kicks, including seven punts and eight field goals or PATs. Oregon State's special teams also returned two kickoffs and one punt for touchdowns.

Prior to joining Oregon State, Read coached at the University of Montana for 12 seasons (1985-96), including 10 seasons as special teams coach. He also worked with the defensive secondary in 1996. Read originally joined the Montana staff as a part-time assistant for his father, Don Read, in 1985.

During Read's tenure as special teams coach at Montana, the Grizzlies broke 20 special teams records as a team and 11 individual special teams marks. His Montana teams blocked 27 punts and 22 PATs or field goals. Montana had at least one blocked punt in each of his 10 seasons. Montana won three Big Sky championships (1993, 1995 and 1996) and won the NCAA Division 1-AA National Championship in 1995. Montana had a record of 96-36 in Read's last 10 seasons.

Before going to Montana, Read spent four seasons (1981-84) at Portland State, where he was a part-time assistant from 1983-84 and a graduate assistant from 1981-82. From 1980-81, Read served as a volunteer coach at the Oregon Institute of Technology.

Read was born January 26, 1962, in Santa Rosa, California. He earned three letters and garnered honorable mention all-state honors as a punter and wide receiver at Henley High School in Klamath Falls, Oregon. As a senior, he had the best punting average in the state.

After graduating from high school, Read attended the Oregon Institute of Technology where he joined his father's coaching staff as a volunteer assistant during his freshman year. He studied at O.I.T. from 1981-82 before finishing his college education at Portland State. He earned a bachelor's degree in social science from Portland State in 1986.

Bruce and his wife, Christina, have two sons, Justin (July 12, 1986) and Joshua (Aug. 2, 1992), and reside in the Carmel Mountain Ranch area of San Diego.

MIKE SANFORD

Wide Receivers

2nd NFL Season,
2nd with Chargers

Head Coach Mike Riley added 21 years of passing-game experience to his staff when he named Mike Sanford San Diego's receivers coach on February 4, 1999.

"Mike and I sat in the same office and worked together for four years at Southern California. I really have a comfort level with him," said Riley. "I have a great respect for his ability to get the most out of players."

In his first season in San Diego, Sanford helped the Chargers implement the team's new no-huddle offensive attack. As a result, wide receiver Jeff Graham finished his first season in San Diego just 32 yards shy of 1,000 receiving yards with 968 yards and two touchdowns on a team-high 57 catches. It was the second-most receiving yards of Graham's career behind only his 1,301 yards for Chicago in 1995. Graham had four 100-yard receiving games during the 1999 season for the Chargers.

In 2000, Sanford and Graham will both be reunited with Curtis Conway, who signed with the Chargers as a free agent during the offseason. Sanford tutored Conway while both were at Southern California, and Graham and Conway spent the 1994-95 seasons as teammates with the Chicago Bears. In 1995, Graham (1,301 yards) and Conway (1,037) became the first receiving duo in Bears history to each gain 1,000 yards receiving in the same season.

Before joining the Chargers in 1999, Sanford spent the previous two seasons (1997-98) as quarterbacks coach at Notre Dame.

Prior to coaching at Notre Dame, Sanford spent eight seasons (1989-96) as receivers coach at the University of Southern Calif ornia, where he worked closely with Riley during his stint as offensive coordinator/ assistant head coach for the Trojans. Together, Sanford and Riley helped develop first team All-America receivers Keyshawn Johnson and Johnnie Morton. Sanford also helped develop Conway in 1993 before Riley joined Southern California's staff. Conway, Morton and Johnson all became first-round NFL draft picks in 1993, 1994 and 1996, respectively, with Johnson being the first overall pick. Morton, who set 12 Pac-10 and USC receiving marks, remains the Trojans' leading career receiver.

During Sanford's eight seasons at USC, the Trojans played in six bowl games with victories in the 1989 and '95 Rose Bowls, the '93 Freedom Bowl and the '94 Cotton Bowl. When John Robinson was hired as USC's head coach prior to the 1993 season, Sanford was the only full-time assistant retained from previous coach Larry Smith's staff.

Before coaching at USC, Sanford spent two seasons (1987-88) as quarterbacks and receivers coach at Purdue. Prior to that, he spent four seasons (1983-86) at Long Beach State, originally working with the quarterbacks and wide receivers before adding the duties of offensive coordinator for two seasons (1985-86).

Sanford also spent two seasons (1981-82) coordinating the passing game and coaching the quarterbacks, wide receivers and tight ends at Virginia Military Institute and two years (1979-80) as wide receivers and tight ends coach at Army.

Sanford originally started his coaching career as a graduate assistant under Robinson at USC in 1977 before moving to San Diego City College as defensive coordinator in 1978.

Born April 20, 1955, Sanford was an All-Northern California pick as a high school senior quarterback at Los Altos High in Los Altos, California. After graduating, Sanford spent four seasons (1973-76) as a reserve quarterback and safety at Southern California, where he played on Trojan teams that qualified for the Rose Bowl in three of his four seasons. He earned a bachelor's degree in physical education from USC in 1978.

Mike and his wife, Melinda, have two children, daughter Lindsay (Aug. 10, 1979) and son Michael (Feb. 4, 1982), and reside in San Diego.

JIM VECHIARELLA

Linebackers

20th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Jim Vechiarella, a 35-year coaching veteran, including 19 years (1981-99) in the National Football League, is in his fourth season as San Diego's linebackers coach.

Last year, Vechiarella's linebacking corps was instrumental in San Diego's continuing dominance against the run. For the second consecutive season, the Chargers led the NFL in yards per carry allowed. After allowing just 2.7 yards per carry in 1998, the lowest total in the NFL since 1951, the Chargers' defense once again set the standard by allowing opponents to rush for just 3.1 yards per carry in 1999.

In 1998, Vechiarella was part of a defensive staff that helped design the NFL's number one ranked defense in both total yards and rushing yards allowed. In addition to San Diego's success against the run, the linebackers and coverage units held opponents to a completion percentage of just .511, which ranked second in the league behind Miami's .500.

Vechiarella originally joined the Chargers prior to the 1997 season after spending two seasons (1995-96) as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach of the New York Jets. Before his stint with the Jets, Vechiarella was the linebackers coach for the Philadelphia Eagles for four seasons (1991-94).

In 1990, Vechiarella was the defensive coordinator for the Cleveland Browns under then-head coach Bud Carson. Prior to working for the Browns, Vechiarella spent four seasons (1986-89) as the linebackers coach for the New York Jets. He was the linebackers coach at Kansas City for three seasons (1983-85), after beginning his NFL coaching career with the Los Angeles Rams (1981-82).

Vechiarella's 16-year collegiate coaching career started as the defensive coordinator at Youngstown State for 11 seasons (1964-74). He spent one season (1975) as the defensive line coach for the World Football League's Charlotte franchise before returning to the collegiate ranks as the defensive coordinator at Southern Illinois for two seasons (1976-77) and Tulane for three seasons (1978-80).

James Anthony Vechiarella was born February 20, 1937, in Youngstown, Ohio, and played linebacker and center at Youngstown State University. He attended Rayen High School in Youngstown where he played football and was on the track team. He and his wife, Lucille, have two sons, Jim (March 20, 1961) and Bill (June 14, 1963), and one daughter, Lisa (Nov. 16, 1965).

The Vechiarellas live in San Diego.

OLLIE WILSON

Running Backs

10th NFL Season, 4th with Chargers

Ollie Wilson is in his fourth season guiding San Diego's running backs. A veteran of nine seasons as a running backs coach in the NFL, Wilson has been coaching since 1975, a span of 25 years.

Under Wilson's guidance, running back Jermaine Fazande, San Diego's top draft pick in 1999, emerged as the Chargers' top ground gainer as a rookie last year. In the regular-season finale at Denver, Fazande bulldozed his way for 183 yards and one touchdown on 30 carries. His 183 yards rushing was tied for the fourth-best single-game effort by any Chargers running back in team history. It was also the second most rushing yards by a rookie San Diego back behind Brad Hubbert's 189 yards versus the New York Jets on Dec. 24, 1967. Fazande finished his first NFL campaign with 365 yards and two touchdowns on 91 carries.

Wilson originally joined the Chargers prior to the 1997 season after spending six seasons (1991-96) as Atlanta's running backs coach. Under Wilson's direction, three Falcons running backs rushed for 1,000 yards or more, including Jamal Anderson (1,055 in 1996), Craig Heyward (1,083 in 1995) and Erric Pegram (1,185 in 1993). In 1995, Heyward became the first Atlanta running back to be voted to the Pro Bowl since 1988.

Wilson began his stint with the Falcons in 1990 while working as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program in a position similar to the one he had held with the Houston Oilers in 1990.

Wilson spent eight seasons (1983-90) coaching several different positions at the University of California-Berkeley, including running backs, wide receivers and defensive backs. Prior to his stint at California, Wilson was the offensive coordinator at Northeastern University for eight seasons (1976-82). His first coaching job was wide receivers coach at his alma mater, Springfield College, in 1975.

Ollie Wilson was born March 3, 1951, in Worcester, Massachusetts, and played football, basketball, baseball and ran track at Doherty High School in Worcester.

Wilson was an honorable mention All-America wide receiver at Springfield. He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Springfield in 1973 and his master's degree in 1975. He also has been heavily involved in the Black Coaches Association.

Ollie and his wife, Nadine, reside in San Diego.

DELVAUGHN ALEXANDER

Offensive Assistant/ Quality Control

2nd NFL Season, 2nd with Chargers

DelVaughn Alexander, a former teammate of newly-acquired wide receiver Curtis Conway during their collegiate days at Southern California, is in his second season as the Chargers offensive assistant/quality control. Mike Riley originally named Alexander to San Diego's coaching staff on February 16, 1999.

Alexander joined the Chargers after spending the 1998 season as the wide receivers coach at the University of Nevada-Las Vegas. Prior to that, he spent three seasons (1995-97) on the coaching staff at the University of Southern California where he worked with Riley and wide receivers coach Mike Sanford. Alexander originally joined Southern California's staff in 1995 as an assistant video coordinator before working with the wide receivers and tight ends as an assistant offensive coach in 1996-97.

Alexander spent the 1993-94 seasons playing wide receiver and special teams for Riley and Sanford at Southern California. As a receiver at USC, Alexander played alongside future NFL first-round draft picks Keyshawn Johnson, Johnnie Morton and Curtis Conway.

Alexander also was a triple jumper and high jumper on the Southern California's track team in 1993-94. Alexander received his bachelor's degree in history from USC in 1995 and is working on his master's in education.

Alexander transferred to USC from West Los Angeles College in the spring of 1993. He earned All-Western States Conference first-team honors in football after catching 22 passes for 430 yards for a league-leading 19.5 average and three touchdowns. He also was the Western States Conference champ in the triple jump and high jump at West Los Angeles. Academically, Alexander made the Dean's Honor List in both years at West Los Angeles.

Alexander was born July 16, 1971, in Los Angeles. He competed in football, basketball and track at University High School in Los Angeles. He won the 1989 Los Angeles City title in the triple jump and high jump. He also won league titles in those events, as well as in the 110-meter high hurdles. He was named the Coastal Conference Athlete of the Year in 1989.

Alexander has a son, J.D. (Dec. 16, 1996), and resides in San Diego.

JOHN HASTINGS

Strength & Conditioning

6th NFL Season, 6th with Chargers

John Hastings is in his fourth season as San Diego's strength and conditioning coach. He was elevated to the position on January 31, 1997, after spending two seasons (1995-96) as the team's assistant strength and conditioning coach.

Hastings has been with the Chargers since 1990. He originally worked with the team as an intern in the team's strength and conditioning program for five seasons (1990-94).

Prior to joining the Chargers, Hastings was the owner of his own fitness company, "The Future is Fitness," in San Diego.

John Scott Hastings was born July 5, 1964, in Newport News, Virginia. He graduated with a degree in psychology and physical therapy from Ohio University in 1987. John and his wife, Lori, have son Alexander Scott (Dec. 30, 1995), and daughter Taylor Marie (May 12, 1998), and reside in San Marcos, California.

ANDREW McCLAVE

Defensive Assistant/ Quality Control

1st NFL Season, 1st with Chargers

Head Coach Mike Riley named former Oregon State graduate assistant Andrew McClave as the Chargers defensive assistant/quality control on February 7, 2000. McClave replaced Kevin Lempa, who joined former Chargers coach June Jones' staff as defensive coordinator at the University of Hawaii.

McClave joined the Chargers after spending the previous three seasons (1997-99) as a graduate assistant at Oregon State. He worked one season each with the defensive line (1999), defensive backs (1998) and linebackers (1997). He also assisted the Beavers' special teams coordinator over the last three seasons.

McClave began his coaching career in 1996 at his alma mater, Jesuit High School in Portland, Oregon, directing the tight ends and linebackers.

From 1990-95, he attended UCLA, earning three letters (1991, '92, '93) while playing linebacker. During his playing career at UCLA, McClave was a member of the 1993 Pac-10 Champion Bruins team that played in the 1994 Rose Bowl. McClave was also a teammate of Chargers offensive tackle Vaughn Parker while at UCLA. McClave earned a bachelor's degree in history from UCLA in 1995.

McClave was born November 1, 1971, in Evanston, Illinois. Andrew and his wife, Melanie, reside in San Diego.

PLAYER PERSONNEL

BILLY DEVANEY

Director of Player Personnel

18th NFL Season, 11th with Chargers

A veteran of 17 seasons of evaluating NFL talent, Billy Devaney is in his eleventh year as San Diego's director of player personnel.

As the Chargers' director of player personnel, Devaney is responsible for all player acquisition, including directing the team's annual draft of collegiate players and acquiring both rookie and veteran free agents.

Devaney originally joined the Chargers on January 23, 1990, after serving seven seasons as a scout for the Washington Redskins. Devaney scouted the Northeast part-time for Washington beginning in 1979 before joining the team full-time in 1983.

William Joseph Peter Francis Devaney was born March 7, 1955, in Red Bank, New Jersey. He played football and baseball for the Mater Dei High Seraphs in New Monmouth, New Jersey, before going to Biscayne College in Miami, Florida, where he played baseball. While at Biscayne, now known as St. Thomas College and former training grounds of the Miami Dolphins, Devaney became acquainted with then-Dolphins' director of player personnel Bobby Beathard. After one year, Devaney transferred to Elon College in North Carolina to play both football and baseball but maintained contact with Beathard. Devaney played strong safety for four seasons and co-captained the football team as a senior. Devaney also played third base for three years at Elon, and he was the president of the ITK fraternity. After graduating with a degree in history in 1978, he joined Beathard's staff in Washington.

Billy and his wife, Deirdre, have a daughter, Kaitlin Ashley (Jan. 20, 1987), and a son, Tyler Everett (July 16, 1991), and reside in El Cajon. Devaney is an avid runner who has raced in several Boston Marathons.

GREG GAINES

Director of Pro Personnel

18th NFL Season, 3rd with Chargers

Gaines, whose NFL career includes nine years as a player, three years as a coach, and three as a scout, is in his third season as the Chargers' director of pro personnel.

In his current role, Gaines monitors and evaluates all players in the NFL and other professional leagues.

Gaines joined the Chargers after spending the previous three seasons (1995-97) as a college scout for the St. Louis Rams. Prior to that, Gaines spent three seasons (1992-94) as a defensive assistant coach for the Rams.

He spent nine years in the NFL as a linebacker with the Seattle Seahawks (1981-88) and Kansas City Chiefs (1989). Following his playing career, Gaines entered private business and coached one year (1991) at the Donellson Academy in Nashville, Tennessee.

Gregory Scott Gaines was born October 16, 1958, in Martinsville, Virginia. He attended Dupont High in Hermitage, Tennessee, and graduated from the University of Tennessee with a degree in sociology in 1981.

Greg and wife, Gina, have two daughters, Jenaleigh (Sept. 27, 1982) and Kelsey (March 8, 1988), and son, Justin (May 16, 1984), and reside in Mission Viejo, California.

JIMMY RAYE

Director of College Scouting

6th NFL Season, 5th with Chargers

Raye was named the Chargers' director of college scouting on June 8, 2000. He oversees and coordinates the Chargers' college scouting department.

Raye is in his fifth season with the Chargers, having spent the previous four years (1996-99) as a scout. He originally joined the Chargers' staff as a scout on June 1, 1996, after spending the 1995 season as an offensive assistant/quality control coach for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Raye's NFL career began in 1991 when he signed a free-agent contract with the Los Angeles Rams where he played in the final two games of the 1991 season after spending the first 14 games on the Rams' developmental squad. He attended training camps with the Chargers (1992) and Houston Oilers (1993) before spending the 1994 season as the wide receivers coach for Irvine High School in Irvine, California.

Prior to joining the Chiefs in April of 1995, Raye worked briefly for his former collegiate head coach Al Luginbill and the Amsterdam Admirals of the World League. Raye's father, Jimmy Raye II, is the offensive coordinator for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Raye played wide receiver for San Diego State where he finished his collegiate career tied for eighth on the school's all-time receiving list with 111 catches.

Jimmy Arthur Raye III was born November 24, 1968, in Fayetteville, North Carolina. He earned All-South Coast League honors as a defensive back for the Irvine High Vaqueros in Irvine where he also played basketball and ran track. He earned a degree in public administration from San Diego State University.

Raye is single and resides in San Diego.

JEFF BEATHARD

Scout

9th NFL Season, 7th with Chargers

Beathard joined San Diego's scouting staff May 17, 1994, after spending the previous two seasons as a scout for the Los Angeles Rams.

Beathard, the son of former Chargers General Manager Bobby Beathard, also served as a scout and coach in the World League of American Football (WLAF) from 1990-92. He scouted for the league in 1990. He then became a scout and the running backs coach for the Orlando Thunder in 1991 and a scout and tight ends coach for the San Antonio Riders in 1992.

Beathard was the final player selected in the twelfth round by the Rams in the 1988 draft. He played two seasons (1988-89) for Winnipeg of the Canadian Football League. Beathard was a running back at Southern Oregon State (1987) after transferring following three years (1983-85) at Towson State in Maryland.

Jeffrey Robert Beathard was born June 9, 1964, in Torrance, California. Beathard attended Oakton High School in Vienna, Virginia, where he participated in football, baseball, and track. Beathard earned all-district and all-region honors for the Oakton Cougars and also played in the Virginia football All-Star Game as a senior. He graduated with a degree in general studies from Southern Oregon State in 1987.

Jeff and his wife, Lisa, reside in Broad Run, Virginia, with daughter, Kylee (May 28, 1991), and sons, Jeffrey (September 11, 1992) and Jake (November 23, 1998).

JIM JAUCH

Scout

9th NFL Season, 9th with Chargers

Jauch joined San Diego's staff as a full-time scout February 17, 1994, after scouting for the Chargers part time since 1992.

Jauch (pronounced "Yock") played defensive back for five seasons (1989-93) in the Canadian Football League. He was originally a third-round draft selection of the Saskatchewan Roughriders in 1988, but began his professional career with the Calgary Stampeders in 1989. He also played for the Edmonton Eskimos (1990-91) and Hamilton Tiger-Cats (1992-93).

Jim's father, Ray, was the head coach of the Saskatchewan Roughriders for four years (1991-94) and the Minnesota Fighting Pike of the Arena Football League for two years (1995-96) before retiring in 1996. Ray was the CFL Coach of the Year as head coach of the Edmonton Eskimos in 1970 and again in 1980 as head coach of the Winnipeg Blue Bombers. Jim's brother, Joey, played wide receiver for the Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Montreal Alouettes.

James Walter Jauch was born June 25, 1965, in Iowa City, Iowa. He played defensive back at the University of North Carolina, completing his senior season in 1988. He graduated in 1989 with a degree in criminal justice and political science. Jauch grew up in Winnipeg before moving to Oakton, Virginia. He earned all-region honors as a senior for the Oakton High Cougars while playing alongside Casey Beathard, who also has scouted part-time for San Diego.

Jauch is single and resides in Cincinnati, Ohio.

ED LANGSDORF

Scout

1st NFL Season,
1st with Chargers

Langsdorf joined the Chargers as a full-time scout prior to the 2000 season. He is responsible for scouting the Northwest region and will be the Chargers' representative to the National Scouting Combine.

Prior to joining the Chargers, Langsdorf spent 20 years as a coach and teacher at Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon. In 1999, he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach. In 1998 he coached the quarterbacks after spending the previous two seasons (1996-97) coaching the wide receivers. He spent the 1992-95 seasons as Linfield's head coach. Langsdorf spent his first 12 seasons (1980-91) at Linfield as the school's wide receivers coach. He served together with Chargers Head Coach Mike Riley when both were on the school's coaching staff from 1980-82.

Edward Vernon Langsdorf was born December 23, 1944, in Vallejo, California. He attended Glasgow High School in Glasgow, Montana, where he played football, basketball and ran track for the Scotties. He continued his football playing career as a defensive end and tight end for the Concordia College Cobbers in Moorhead, Minnesota. He graduated from Concordia with a degree in history in 1967. Langsdorf earned a master's degree in physical education from Washington State University in 1969 and a doctorate of education in physical education from Arizona State in 1979.

Ed and his wife, Jan, have a daughter, Lisa (June 19, 1970) and a son, Danny (June 28, 1972), who is the quarterbacks coach for the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League. The Langsdorfs reside in McMinnville, Oregon.

QUALCOMM STADIUM

August 2, 1997, marked the beginning of a new era in San Diego sports history. The Chargers played their first-ever football game in QUALCOMM Stadium, the city's newly-remodeled 71,000-seat stadium. The stadium that the Chargers have called home since 1967 underwent a major facelift that included the addition of 11,500 new seats, a state-of-the-art Gold Club level, 37 new luxury suites, a new west-end Jumbotron screen and a host of other changes.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium is the Chargers Gold Club. Chargers season ticket holders who purchase seats on the former loge level of the stadium enjoy special amenities exclusive to Gold Club members. The 7,800 Gold Club seats are wider, padded and come equipped with an attached drink holder. To enhance the Gold Club experience, members have wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties. Members also enjoy the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after the game. Restrooms on the Gold Club level also have been upgraded and are staffed with full-time attendants.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was renamed Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to 71,000.

The team played before its first-ever sellout crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders. In 1999, the Chargers played in front of the largest home crowd in team history when 68,274 fans were in attendance for a game versus the Green Bay Packers on Oct. 24, 1999.

CHARGERS IN THE COMMUNITY

Local youth score with new Chargers Champions program

The San Diego Chargers started the new millennium with a bang when they announced the creation of Chargers Champions—an initiative designed to benefit youth, education and sports in San Diego County.

The primary focus of Chargers Champions is to identify and honor those "making the difference" in their communities and in people's lives, and is the Chargers' way of saying thanks to San Diego for 40 great years.

With a $3 million commitment countywide, the first thing Chargers Champions unveiled was a scholarship program for students, educators and schools.

San Diego Chargers

Chargers President Dean Spanos (left), with San Diego City Schools Superintendent Alan Bersin, committed $3 million to San Diego County students, educators and schools through Chargers Champions.

In May, 22 high school juniors were chosen from more than 350 applicants to receive $7,500 scholarships and laptop computers. The winners attended the First Annual Chargers Champions Honors Dinner on June 1, 2000. The students have all demonstrated leadership, service, citizenship and commitment to their schools and communities.

"This is a great opportunity to recognize some outstanding students and reward them for their hard work both in the classroom and in their communities," said Chargers President Dean Spanos. "The great thing about this program is that it will enable San Diego's future leaders to take advantage of opportunities that otherwise may not have been afforded to them. There are a lot of bright, young minds in our schools and it's exciting for us to have a chance to recognize them."

Eleven schools in San Diego County will be honored by Chargers Champions next year for their role in developing future leaders. Each school will receive an $11,000 grant. What's more, the Chargers will provide leadership speakers to the schools, as well as preseason sports physicals for the schools' student athletes. All public and private elementary, middle and high schools are eligible.

The Chargers will also honor individual educators who use innovation and creativity in developing students into San Diego's future leaders.

Eleven educators will be selected in 2001 and will receive $2,500 literacy grants and laptop computers for their classrooms. Any full-time teacher, counselor, coach or administrator working in a San Diego County public or private school is eligible.

The winning students, schools and educators are selected by a team of local educators, business representatives and civic leaders—including the Chargers' Dean Spanos, county superintendent Rudy Castruita, San Diego schools chief Alan Bersin and Marilyn Creson, Union-Tribune chief financial officer.

While Chargers Champions primarily benefits students, schools and educators who are "Making the Difference" for San Diego's future, Chargers Champions also encompasses the team's ongoing support of youth and high school football.

Chargers bring freshman sports to City Schools

Chargers Champions also contributed $250,000 this year to create and fund freshman football and freshman girls volleyball in San Diego City Schools beginning in Fall, 2000.

This public-private partnership created nearly 1,200 new opportunities for students in San Diego. The San Diego City School District is the only district in the county that does not offer athletic teams for ninth-grade students.

"I salute the Chargers for their commitment to youth and education by providing students a chance for greater participation in athletics," said Bersin. "The Chargers are demonstrating, both with their backing of ninth-grade sports and their Chargers Champions scholarships, the benefits that come to our community when public and private entities work together for our common good."

The initiation of freshman football and freshman girls volleyball beginning in the Fall, 2000 will help the district:

- Enhance students' academic achievement.
- Encourage both male and female participation in athletics and school activities.
- Encourage and teach good sportsmanship, teamwork and high ethical standards.
- Promote and urge community support of schools, education and athletics.

Chargers Blood Drive continues to set records

Chargers Champions also encompasses long-standing community service programs, such as the annual Chargers Blood Drive.

The Blood Drive is held in conjunction with the San Diego Blood Bank each year to help keep an adequate blood supply in San Diego County during the holiday season. For 22 years, the team has hosted the largest single-location blood drive in the nation and collected more than 27,000 pints for the community.

Under the direction of Susie Spanos, the Chargers Blood Drive also helps to support the Cord Blood Donor Program. This program encourages pregnant women to donate their umbilical cord upon delivery and the blood in the cord is used to save lives.

The Chargers Blood Drive began as a call to help illness-stricken Rolf Benirschke, a former placekicker for the team. Rolf used more than 50 pints of blood during surgery for ulcerative colitis. The enthusiastic response to that blood drive was the genesis of the team's annual blood drive program. Rolf returns to the blood drive each year along with current Chargers players to greet and assist the donors, while their wives and girlfriends host and star in an annual fashion show held on the evening of the blood drive.

Children's Hospital holds special place in Chargers' heart

Since he first arrived in San Diego, Alex Spanos and the San Diego Chargers have nurtured a relationship with Children's Hospital and Health Center.

From the creation of the Brooke Humphries Fund two years ago, to the introduction of the Toss for Tots program in 1999, Children's Hospital remains a top priority of the team for annual support.

The Brooke Humphries Fund was created by the Spanos family to honor Stan Humphries, his daughter Brooke and his family for their contributions to the San Diego community. A sizeable contribution was given to establish the "Brooke Humphries Field of Champions" area, a specially designed area where more than 25,000 orthopedic outpatients are seen annually. The room is located on the first floor of the Children's Way Patient Care Pavilion, near the hospital's front reception area.

The fund continues to support various programs and specialized technology so that Children's Hospital and Health Center can continue providing San Diego's children the medical care they deserve.

Hospital and Health Center partnered to create "Toss for Tots." Toss for Tots members make a donation for each Chargers' touchdown during the 16 regular season games.

There is also a "Toss for Tots" Passing Challenge Booth, located near Gate K at all Chargers home games.

To show their support for "Toss for Tots," quarterbacks Jim Harbaugh and Ryan Leaf agreed to match all public contributions and together donated $12,500 in 1999 to the program. For more information, please call Children's Hospital Foundation at (858) 576-5988.

Together they carried the "torch of life" along the one-eighth mile course at Embarcadero Park. More than 100 children participated in the torch relay and over 1,500 family members and friends cheered them on.

Seau Foundation benefits San Diego youth

The Junior Seau Foundation, formed in 1992 by All-Pro linebacker Junior Seau and his wife, Gina, is dedicated to educating and empowering young people through the support of child abuse prevention efforts, drug and alcohol awareness and anti-juvenile delinquency programs. The Seau Foundation sponsors the "Sacks for San Diego" program where individuals and businesses pledge $1 to $100 for each sack by the Chargers' defense. The money supports a variety of efforts, including the college education of dozens of students from San Diego County.

Every offseason, the Junior Seau Foundation sponsors the Junior Seau Celebrity Golf Classic. Seau gathers approximately 150 golfers for this event, which is held at the La Costa Resort and Spa.

Seau Foundation

Teddy Bears bring smiles

Each December San Diego Chargers long snapper David Binn and President Dean Spanos head up the "Teddy Bear Drive to Children's Hospital." The event entails leading a caravan of more than 50 cars filled with teddy bears and toys that are delivered to patients at Children's Hospital. The Chargers Bolt Patrol van leads the caravan from the Coronado Police Department to the hospital.

Spanos and Binn each donate $2,000 to the Coronado Police Officer's Association to help with the purchase of the gifts. The Teddy Bear Drive began nine years ago and approximately 5,000 bears and toys were donated last year.

Making friends south of the border

Chargers President Dean Spanos, quarterback Moses Moreno and alum John Jackson participated in the opening ceremonies of the new "Sra. Margarita Astiazaran de Fimbres" American-football stadium at CETYS University in Tijuana in April. They went south of the border for the inauguration ceremonies and to help present commemorative footballs to CETYS University and Tijuana's Fimbres family. The stadium is the first multi-use facility of its kind in Tijuana.

San Diego Chargers

Youth Football—A Spanos family priority

The Chargers have demonstrated a long-standing commitment to high school sports. The Chargers annually sponsor the California Interscholastic Federation (CIF) Champion ship football games. The games are played at Qualcomm Stadium in December.

Mike Nowak

Each year the Chargers provide the best senior football players with a final high school experience by sponsoring the Alex Spanos All Star Classic. The Alex Spanos All Star Classic is the longest standing high school all-star football game in California. The High School Sports Association of San Diego gathers the county's best senior football players for a matchup between the North and South schools.

In addition to making the game possible, Spanos donates a scholarship in the names of the game's most valuable offensive and defensive players to each school's respective athletic departments.

The Chargers and the National Football League annually honor high school coaches through the Chargers-NFL High School Coach of the Week program. Each week during the high school football season, the Chargers honor a different coach for his outstanding performance in San Diego County.

Pop Warner teams from Southern California and Mexico display their young stars at exhibition games at Qualcomm Stadium, courtesy of the Chargers.

The weekly winner receives a $500 stipend for his school's football program, a certificate, hat, and T-shirts for the team. All 10 winners attend a Chargers game at the end of the year and are introduced to the crowd. One coach is selected Coach of the Year.

Youth Pop Warner football players also have benefited from the Chargers support. In addition to support given through various fundraisers each year, thousands of Pop Warner players, cheerleaders and their parents have enjoyed the thrill of playing an exhibition game at pregame or halftime of a Chargers' game in Qualcomm Stadium.

Carney reaches out to kids

Kicker John Carney gives endless hours of his personal time to help a wide range of worthwhile causes through his KickStart for Kids program. In 1999, he took his devotion to helping San Diego's youth with his Lids for Kids program at Children's Hospital. This program is an effort to raise funds to purchase hats for the children in the Cancer Care Center who have lost their hair as a result of chemotherapy. Last October, Carney and teammates Darren Bennett and David Binn kicked off the program by shaving their heads to pay tribute to the patients in the hospital.

Carney also devotes much of his time and efforts to Fresh Start Surgical Gifts. Fresh Start provides, facilitates and supports reconstructive surgery for children who suffer from physical deformities. In 1992, Carney started the KickStart for Kids program, which has generated nearly $1 million for Fresh Start.

Carney also hosts several annual events to support these worthy causes, including the Kicks on the Green golf tournament and the ABCD Kicking Camp.

Kicker John Carney's KickStart for Kids program is responsible for raising nearly $1 million for Fresh Start Surgical Gifts of San Diego.

Paul Nestor

It's all about giving back

Throughout the year San Diego Chargers players are finding ways to help out the community, whether it's through the donation of their own time or money.

Each October, the Chargers pair up with Payless Shoe Source to distribute shoes to needy youngsters. More than 1,000 pairs of shoes are handed out each year to children in grades K-6. The most deserving youth are selected throughout San Diego County by their schools and are teamed with individual players on the day of the event to pick out a new pair of shoes.

In November, the Chargers purchase gift baskets of food for 150 families to prepare a Thanksgiving dinner. The Spanos family and the players purchase the food and distribute it to the deserving families, who come from all over the county.

Each spring the team joins the staff at St. Vincent de Paul Village and serves an Easter meal to the homeless. More than 1,000 people come for the meal and are waited on by Chargers players and staff. Some players stay after and play an informal game of football in the courtyard with the children who live at St. Vincent de Paul.

In May, several players deliver Mother's Day meals to homebound senior citizens. The players deliver a complete turkey dinner, along with place settings and flowers.

For the last two years, the Chargers have participated in the "21 Means 21" alcohol awareness assembly at the Coors Amphitheater in Chula Vista. This year quarterback Moses Moreno was the featured speaker and delivered an important message about underage drinking. The assembly was attended by more than 2,000 high school seniors from throughout San Diego County. The Chula Vista Police Department, Sweetwater Unified School District, City of Chula Vista and Coors Amphitheater host the event to promote a safe and sober graduation season.

John Parrella and Raylee Johnson participate each year in Kids Newsday with Children's Hospital. The October event features celebrities selling a special Kids Newsday Edition of the San Diego Union-Tribune all around town. All of the money raised from the sale of the special edition is donated to Children's Hospital for research to provide better care for the patients at the hospital.

NFL: One of Chargers' most pleasant surprises in 1999, Davis made immediate impact after making roster as rookie free agent...after playing six different positions in college, Davis showed athletic ability by playing in all 16 games with three starts at H-Back last year...with tight end size and speed of wide receiver, Davis creates mismatches for opposing defenses...caught 12 passes for 137 yards (11.4 avg.) and one touchdown on way to earning NFL All-Rookie honors from Football News...versatile, unselfish player who added nine tackles, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery on special teams coverage units...should continue to develop into one of Chargers' primary offensive weapons in second full NFL season in 2000.

1999: Saw action in all 16 games with three starts, all at H-Back, as rookie in 1999 ...earned NFL All-Rookie honors from Football News...finished season with 12 catches for 137 yards (11.4 avg.) and one touchdown...set season best with first-career NFL catch for 46 yards Game 2 versus Indianapolis Sept. 26...hauled in one pass, for two yards, Game 6 versus Green Bay Oct. 24...set season high with six catches for 26 yards, including first career touchdown catch Game 10 versus Chicago Nov. 21 ...touchdown catch came on opening drive of game and was two-yarder from Jim Harbaugh...caught two passes for 32 yards Game 11 at Minnesota Nov. 28...caught one pass Game 14 and at Miami (26 yards) Dec. 19 and Game 15 versus Oakland (five yards) Dec. 26...originally joined Chargers as rookie free agent.

COLLEGE: Played six different positions during collegiate career for Washington Huskies...caught 23 passes for 275 yards and three touchdowns over final two seasons as tight end and H-Back...began career as linebacker at Washington...co-recipient of Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Player award following senior season ...caught game-winning 63-yard touchdown pass in season opener at Arizona State.

PERSONAL: Born Reginald DeSean Davis September 3, 1976...highly decorated safety and quarterback for Brethren Christian High School in Huntington Beach, California...recorded 14 interceptions during prep career...earned all-league honors in basketball and lettered in track...sociology for occupational therapy major...served as president of Washington Student-Athlete Advisory Council...worked with students at Hoover High School in San Diego during 2000 offseason as part of NFL's Youth Football Internship Program...Reggie and his wife, Jennifer, reside in San Diego.

San Diego 34, at Cincinnati 7 (Sunday, Sept. 19)

The Chargers opened the 1999 regular season with a decisive 34-7 win in Cincinnati. It was Mike Riley's first game as an NFL head coach. The Chargers converted five Bengals turnovers, including four fumbles and one interception, into 24 points en route to the win. Cincinnati took the opening possession of the game 66 yards for a touchdown, but it was all San Diego after that. The Chargers opened up a 28-7 lead at halftime with two John Carney field goals (27 & 23 yards), two Jim Harbaugh touchdown passes (12 yards on a shovel pass to Natrone Means and 29 yards to Jeff Graham) and a 27-yard fumble return for a touchdown by Gerald Dixon. The Chargers tacked on two Carney field goals in the second half to make the final score 34-7. The Chargers' defense and special teams caused two fumbles each, all of which were converted into points by San Diego's offense. Cornerback Scott Turner led the way on special teams with four tackles and one recovered fumble, while safety Rodney Harrison paced the defense with eight solo tackles while adding a forced fumble and one tackle on special teams. Pro Bowl linebacker Junior Seau was up to his usual tricks, amassing four tackles, one sack, one forced fumble (which Dixon returned for a score) and one fumble recovery (which was turned into a San Diego field goal). San Diego dominated statistically, including time of possession (38:30 to 21:30), total yards (266 to 172) and rushing yards (91 to 47). Defensively, the Chargers extended their streak of not allowing a 100-yard rusher to 20 games. The season opening win marked the first time a Chargers head coach won his debut since Sid Gillman did so in 1960 — the first year of the franchise.

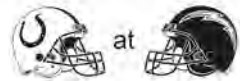
Indianapolis 27, at San Diego 19 (Sunday, Sept. 26)



The Chargers dropped a 27-19 decision to the Colts in San Diego's 1999 home opener. Indianapolis jumped out to a 10-point first quarter lead, but San Diego led at the half after scoring 16 second-quarter points. The teams traded field goals in the third quarter, giving San Diego a 19-13 advantage heading into the fourth quarter. Two long scoring drives by the Colts, including 83 yards on eight plays and 69 yards on 10 plays, sealed the win for the visitors. Quarterback Peyton Manning completed 29 of 54 passes for a team-record 404 yards, two touchdowns and one interception. He also scored on a 12-yard touchdown run. Marvin Harrison was on the receiving end of 13 of Manning's passes for 196 yards and one score. His 13 catches tied a Colts team record and his 196 yards were the fourth most ever given up by the Chargers. The highlights for the Chargers included a blocked punt by Michael Dumas that was recovered for a touchdown by Darryll Lewis in the second quarter. San Diego's defense extended its streak of not allowing a 100-yard rusher to 21 games.

at San Diego 21, Kansas City 14 (Sunday, Oct. 3)

The Chargers got their first home win and first victory over an AFC Western Division opponent under Mike Riley with a 21-14 triumph over the Chiefs. Kansas City jumped out to a 14-0 first quarter lead, turning good field possession and a Chargers turnover into two touchdowns. The Bolts bounced back with two second-quarter scores. Free safety Michael Dumas intercepted an Elvis Grbac pass and returned it 24 yards to the Chiefs' 10-yard line. Two plays later, running back Natrone Means punched it in from the Chiefs' four-yard line to make the score, 14-7. Two series later, the Chargers' defense forced the Chiefs to punt, but punter Daniel Pope bobbled the snap and was tackled by the Chargers' rush, giving San Diego the ball on the Kansas City 18-yard line. Two plays later, quarterback Erik Kramer, who was filling in for an injured Jim Harbaugh, connected with running back Kenny Bynum on an 18-yard touchdown pass to make the score 14-14 at halftime. San Diego got the only score of the second half when Kramer hit wide receiver Chris Penn with an 11-yard scoring pass after the Chargers' defense gave the offense the ball on Kansas City's 22-yard line following the first of two third-quarter interceptions by cornerback Darryll Lewis. The Chargers intercepted Grbac four times, and San Diego scored 14 of its 21 points off Chiefs turnovers.

San Diego 20, at Detroit 10 (Sunday, Oct. 10)

The Chargers played their first game in Detroit since 1978 and came away with a 20-10 win. San Diego's defense set the tone, allowing the Lions just 229 total yards while sacking quarterback Charlie Batch six times. The Lions were held to 37 yards rushing on 24 attempts (1.5 avg.). Batch got the Lions ahead in the first quarter with a 41-yard touchdown pass to Germane Crowell. The teams traded field goals in the second quarter before the Chargers tied the score at 10-10 with an 11-play, 80-yard drive that culminated with a three-yard touchdown run by Tremayne Stephens. All of the second half scoring belonged to San Diego. After a third quarter John Carney field goal, the Chargers put the game away when Rodney Harrison forced a Cory Schlesinger fumble on third and short that Darryll Lewis scooped up and returned 42 yards for his second touchdown in three weeks. Harrison finished with seven tackles, one sack and three passes defensed, while Junior Seau added 12 tackles, two sacks (tying his single-game career high) and one pass defensed. Cornerback Jimmy Spencer added 12 tackles and two passes defensed, while Norman Hand, Raylee Johnson, Al Fontenot and Cedric Harden provided the remainder of the sacks. San Diego found a way to win a key game on the road despite missing several starters to injury, including cornerbacks Charles Dimry and Terrance Shaw, left tackle John Jackson, running back Natrone Means, wide receiver Mikhael Ricks and quarterback Jim Harbaugh. The Chargers also lost middle linebacker Eric Hill and wide receiver Jeff Graham during the game to injury. Erik Kramer filled in for Harbaugh and completed 20 of 34 passes for 208 yards and one interception.

GAME 5
at San Diego 13, Seattle 10 (Sunday, Oct. 17)

The Chargers took sole possession of the AFC West lead with a 13-10 victory over the visiting Seattle Seahawks. John Carney sealed the victory for the Chargers with no time remaining when he hit a 41-yard field goal. Carney also supplied the game-tying field goal with 2:54 remaining on a 28-yarder. Both teams came into the game with identical 3-1 records with the all-time series tied at 20 wins apiece. The Chargers' defense supplied the impetus for the win, holding the Seahawks to 201 total yards, including just 61 yards rushing on 27 carries (2.3 avg.). The defense had its back to the wall throughout the second half as the Seahawks recorded interceptions on four-consecutive Chargers offensive possessions, giving Seattle the ball on San Diego's 34, 33 and 47-yard lines, as well as stopping a San Diego scoring drive on the Seahawks' five-yard line. The Bolts' defense held Seattle in check, allowing the Seahawks just one touchdown, giving the Chargers a chance to come back for the win. San Diego quarterback Erik Kramer set season highs in completions (27), passing attempts (44) and passing yards (296). Kramer made up for throwing four second-half interceptions by completing all six of his passes for 85 yards in San Diego's final two drives, setting up the game-tying and game-winning field goals. Kramer spread the ball around to nine different receivers, with wideout Jeff Graham (six catches, 92 yards) and running back Terrell Fletcher (six catches, 57 yards) leading the way. Tight end Freddie Jones added five catches for 74 yards. San Diego's defense was paced by linebacker Junior Seau's 11 tackles, and cornerback Darryll Lewis helped set up the Chargers' lone touchdown with his third interception in as many games deep in Seattle territory.

GAME 6

Green Bay 31, at San Diego 3 (Sunday, Oct. 24)

The Chargers dropped a 31-3 decision to the visiting Green Bay Packers. San Diego suffered a season-high six interceptions and the Packers scored 24 points off Chargers turnovers. Quarterback Brett Favre led the Packers on four of Green Bay's five scoring drives, including marches of 80 yards on eight plays and 99 yards on 14 plays, tying an NFL record for the longest touchdown drive. For the Chargers, quarterbacks Erik Kramer and Jim Harbaugh suffered three interceptions each, including two that thwarted potential scoring opportunities in the end zone and on the Packers' one-yard line. Green Bay gained 129 yards rushing in the game, 121 yards of which came in the second half. The Chargers' ground game gained 76 yards on 27 carries for an average of 2.8 yards per carry, while the Packers averaged 4.6 yards on 28 rushing attempts. Favre threw three touchdown passes and one interception while completing 12 of 22 passes for 173 yards. Kramer finished with 18 completions of 36 passes for 161 yards and three picks, while Harbaugh completed seven of 18 passes for 78 yards and three interceptions. Tight end Freddie Jones set career highs with seven catches for 87 yards. The game was played in front of a Chargers home record crowd of 68,274 fans.

GAME 7
at Kansas City 34, San Diego 0 (Sunday, Oct. 31)

The Chargers dropped out of a tie for first place in the AFC West with a 34-0 loss at Kansas City. Both teams were tied with Seattle atop the division with records of 4-2 heading into the game. Kansas City converted three of San Diego's four turnovers (two fumbles and two interceptions) into 17 points. The Chiefs committed no turnovers and were penalized just three times, while the Chargers suffered 12 penalties. Kansas City quarterback Elvis Grbac completed 11 of 15 passes, but the Chiefs made each reception count, averaging 11.6 yards per pass attempt, including an 81-yard touchdown to Derrick Alexander in the third quarter. San Diego quarterback Erik Kramer was replaced by Jim Harbaugh in the first quarter after San Diego's first two offensive possessions resulted in an interception and a lost fumble, which was returned for a Chiefs score. Harbaugh finished the game with 18 completions of 34 passes for 174 yards and one interception and was sacked four times. Running back Kenny Bynum, who was filling in for an injured Natrone Means, carried 12 times for 55 yards. Defensive tackle John Parrella provided the impetus for San Diego's stingy run defense, notching a career-high eight tackles and adding his first sack of the season, while helping to hold the Chiefs to just 2.5 yards per rush on 39 attempts.

GAME 8
Denver 33, at San Diego 17 (Sunday, Nov. 7)

The Chargers reached the midpoint of the season with a record of 4-4 after losing to the Broncos 33-17 at Qualcomm Stadium. Seventeen of Denver's points came after Chargers turnovers and the game marked the eighth-consecutive game of the '99 season that San Diego failed to score first. Denver opened up a 10-0 lead on the strength of a Jason Elam field goal and a Bill Romanowski interception return for a touchdown. The score was 13-3 at halftime after John Carney and Elam traded field goals. The Broncos increased their lead to 20-3 when Olandis Gary scored on a 23-yard run in the third quarter. Jim Harbaugh hooked up with tight end Freddie Jones on a seven-yard scoring toss to tighten the score to 20-10. After an Elam field goal made Denver's lead 23-10, Harbaugh got the Chargers within six points by hitting Charlie Jones on a 44-yard scoring strike to make the tally 23-17. San Diego's defense forced the Broncos to punt on their next possession, but Chris Penn muffed the return and Denver recovered. Elam added a field goal and Gary scored on a five-yard run to make the final score 33-17. Gary (108 yards on 30 carries) broke the Chargers' streak of 26 consecutive games of not allowing an opposing team's running back to rush for 100 yards. The Chargers turned the ball over four times (two interceptions and two fumbles), while the Broncos had no turnovers.

GAME 9
at Oakland 28, San Diego 9 (Sunday, Nov. 14)

The Bolts dropped their fourth-consecutive game with a 28-9 loss at Oakland. The Raiders outgained the Chargers in total yards, 417 to 225, including 173 rushing yards to San Diego's 33. Oakland quarterback Rich Gannon completed 18 of 24 passes (.750) for 254 yards and four touchdowns, including two each to running back Tyrone Wheatley and tight end Ricky Dudley. Neither team suffered a turnover for the first time in a Chargers game during the 1999 season, but the Raiders dominated time of possession, 37:08 to 22:52, while scoring on touchdown drives of 46, 97, 72 and 69 yards. Raiders receiver Tim Brown caught seven passes for 117 yards, and Chargers tight end Freddie Jones had a team-high five catches for 65 yards and one touchdown, his second score in as many weeks. Quarterback Jim Harbaugh went the distance for San Diego, completing 18 of 32 passes for 204 yards and the one touchdown pass to Jones. Defensively, Junior Seau had a team-high 12 tackles and one pass defensed, while safeties Greg Jackson and Michael Dumas added 11 and 10 tackles, respectively. The Raiders' offense was particularly efficient on third down, converting eight of 13 attempts (62 percent).

GAME 10

Chicago 23, at San Diego 20 (Overtime) (Sunday, Nov. 21)

The Chargers dropped their fifth-consecutive game with a 23-20 overtime loss to the visiting Chicago Bears. It was San Diego's first overtime game since 1995 and first overtime contest at home since 1991. The Chargers opened the scoring by driving 53 yards on 10 plays and Jim Harbaugh connected with rookie tight end Reggie Davis on a two-yard touchdown toss. The score marked the first time during the 1999 season that the Chargers scored first. San Diego led at halftime, 10-3, after the teams traded second-quarter field goals. The third quarter belonged to the Bears. Chicago quarterback Jim Miller, who finished the day with 357 passing yards and one score while completing 25 of 38 passes, tossed a 38-yard strike to Marcus Robinson, who caught six passes for 163 yards in the game. The Bears added another third-quarter score when running back Curtis Enis capped a 10-play, 51-yard drive with a three-yard touchdown run. Chicago tacked on a field goal to increase its lead to 20-10 with 5:22 remaining in regulation. Harbaugh and the Chargers' offense forced the overtime period by engineering two late scoring drives, including a three-play, 64-yard drive capped by a 13-yard touchdown pass to running back Tremayne Stephens and a nine-play drive that resulted in a 28-yard John Carney field goal to knot the score at 20-20. The Bears won the toss prior to the overtime period and drove 59 yards in 10 plays to seal the win with a 36-yard Chris Boniol field goal.

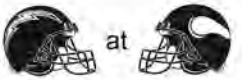
GAME 11



at Minnesota 35, San Diego 27 (Sunday, Nov. 28)

The Chargers traveled to Minnesota and dropped their sixth-consecutive game with a 35-27 loss at the hands of the Vikings. The game featured 943 yards of total offense, including 485 by the Vikings and 458 from the Chargers. San Diego quarterback Jim Harbaugh had a career-high 404 yards passing while completing 25 of 39 passes for one touchdown and one interception. Jeff Graham hauled in six of Harbaugh's passes for 141 yards, while running back Kenny Bynum had 90 yards on two catches, including an electrifying 80-yard catch and run to open the second half. Bynum finished the day with 235 combined net yards, including 26 rushing, 90 receiving and 119 on five kickoff returns. In addition to setting a personal best with 404 passing yards, Harbaugh became the only player in team history to throw for 400 yards in a game other than Dan Fouts, who accomplished that feat six times. Vikings quarterback Jeff George tied his career high with four touchdown passes while completing 28 of 43 passes for 363 yards and two interceptions. San Diego opened the scoring on its first possession with a one-yard plunge by running back Tremayne Stephens after an eight-play, 86-yard drive. The second quarter belonged to the Vikings, who opened up a 28-7 lead with four touchdowns, two of which came after San Diego fumbles deep in Minnesota territory. The Chargers came storming back in the second half, sparked by Bynum's 80-yard touchdown catch and a 68-yard interception return by safety Michael Dumas, the longest of his career. Stephens followed Dumas' interception with another one-yard touchdown run and John Carney added the first of two 40-yard field goals to tighten the score at 28-24. But George and the Vikings responded at the end of the third quarter with a 34-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Cris Carter, his second touchdown catch of the day, to make the score 35-24. San Diego got into scoring range twice late in the game, but only added a 40-yard field goal by Carney before Harbaugh was intercepted on the two-yard line by Robert Griffith to seal the win for the Vikings.

GAME 12
at San Diego 23, Cleveland 10 (Sunday, Dec. 5)

The Chargers got their first win in seven weeks with a 23-10 victory over the visiting Cleveland Browns. San Diego's ground game gained 145 yards on 44 rushes while dominating time of possession (36:40 to 23:20). The Chargers' defense tied its season high with six sacks of Browns quarterback Tim Couch, including a career single-game high three sacks by defensive end Raylee Johnson. Cleveland opened the scoring by taking its first possession 45 yards in 12 plays, capped by a 33-yard Phil Dawson field goal. San Diego responded with two John Carney field goals and a one-yard Kenny Bynum touchdown run to make the score 13-3 late in the second quarter. The Browns made it close at halftime when Couch, the top selection in the 1999 NFL Draft, engineered a nine-play, 70-yard drive that was topped off by a 19-yard scoring strike to rookie wide receiver Kevin Johnson, tightening the score at 13-10. San Diego provided all the second-half scoring, with Carney adding his third field goal before rookie running back Jermaine Fazande scored his first NFL touchdown on a two-yard run in the fourth quarter to seal the win for the Chargers.

San Diego 19, at Seattle 16 (Sunday, Dec. 12)

The Chargers completed a sweep of the two-game series against the AFC Western division leading Seahawks with a 19-16 victory in the Kingdome. Kicker John Carney provided the bulk of San Diego's scoring, connecting on four of four field goals, including two key fourth-quarter kicks from 28 and 41 yards. Todd Peterson, Carney's counterpart with Seattle, missed three second-half field-goal attempts, including a 38 yarder with 1:15 left in regulation. San Diego started the scoring by taking the game's opening possession 72 yards on 10 plays before Natrone Means capped the drive with a one-yard touchdown run. The Chargers led 13-9 at halftime after Carney and Peterson kicked two and three field goals, respectively. Seattle gained its first and only lead on the opening possession of the second half when Jon Kitna engineered a seven-play, 67-yard drive that culminated in a 14-yard touchdown pass to Derrick Mayes, giving them a 16-13 lead. But Carney's two fourth-quarter field goals, combined with Peterson's three misses, sealed the 19-16 win for the Bolts. Chargers wide receiver Jeff Graham tied his career high with nine catches for 114 yards, his second 100-yard game in three weeks. Means, who missed the previous six games with a knee injury, led the Chargers with 42 yards and one touchdown on 14 carries.

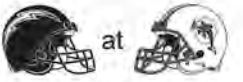
GAME 14
at Miami 12, San Diego 9 (Sunday, Dec. 19)



The Chargers dropped to 6-8 and out of the playoff hunt with a 12-9 loss to the Dolphins in Miami. The game was close throughout and would have gone into overtime if a 36-yard John Carney field goal hadn't hit the left upright with five seconds left in regulation. Carney supplied all of San Diego's scoring with field goals from 23, 22 and 31 yards. Dolphins kicker Olindo Mare handled the scoring chores for Miami, connecting on all four of his field-goal attempts from 32, 21, 30 and 31 yards. The Chargers' defense held the Dolphins to 11 first downs and 53 yards rushing, while also forcing two fumbles that led to six San Diego points. The Dolphins' defense was also dominant, holding the Chargers to 26 yards rushing on 21 carries and 13 first downs while forcing a key fourth-quarter fumble that led to the winning field goal. Running back Terrell Fletcher shouldered the load for the Chargers, catching nine passes for 66 yards and rushing five times for 12 yards. Defensively, linebacker Junior Seau led the Chargers with seven tackles, while tackles Norman Hand and John Parrella each recorded sacks. Parrella helped the Chargers take a 9-6 lead in the fourth quarter when he sacked Dan Marino, forcing a fumble that Raylee Johnson recovered on the Dolphins' four-yard line.

GAME 15
at San Diego 23, Oakland 20 (Sunday, Dec. 26)

The Bolts atoned for an earlier season loss at Oakland with a 23-20 win over the Raiders in Qualcomm Stadium. San Diego came back from deficits of 10-0 in the first quarter and 20-13 in the fourth quarter for the victory. The Raiders took a 10-0 first-quarter lead on the strength of a 52-yard field goal by Joe Nedney and a one-yard run by Zack Crockett. The second quarter belonged to the Bolts. San Diego sandwiched an 18-yard touchdown pass from Jim Harbaugh to fullback Fred McCrary between two John Carney field goals to take a 13-10 halftime lead. The Raiders did all the scoring in the third quarter with a seven-yard pass from Rich Gannon to tight end Rickey Dudley and a 25-yard Nedney field goal, giving Oakland a 20-13 lead heading into the fourth quarter. San Diego tied the score, 20-20, when Harbaugh hit wide receiver Jeff Graham with a 10-yard scoring toss early in the fourth period. Carney added a 37-yard field goal to give the Chargers a 23-20 advantage. San Diego's defense stiffened, holding the Raiders to a failed 44-yard field goal before the Chargers' offense ran out the clock on the final possession. Carney became the 28th player in NFL history to reach the 1,000-point plateau with 11 points for a career total of 1,001. Harbaugh set a personal-best with his second 300-yard game of the season, completing 23 of 36 passes for 325 yards, two touchdowns and one interception. Graham had his third 100-yard receiving game of the season with three catches for 113 yards and game-tying fourth-quarter touchdown. Linebacker Junior Seau sparked San Diego's defense with a team-high seven tackles while adding an interception, one pass defensed and one sack.

GAME 16
San Diego 12, at Denver 6 (Sunday, Jan. 2, 2000)

The Chargers closed out the 1999 regular season with a 12-6 win over the Broncos in Mile High Stadium. It was San Diego's first win in Denver since the 1994 season opener. The win assured San Diego of a victory over every AFC Western Division opponent in 1999 and a record of 5-3 in the division. The game also marked the best outing for rookie running back Jermaine Fazande. He finished with 183 yards and the game's lone touchdown on 30 carries, tying him for the fourth-best single-game rushing total in team history. It was also the second-most rushing yards by a Denver opponent in Mile High Stadium in Broncos team history. Quarterback Moses Moreno made his Chargers debut in the third quarter, completing five of seven passes for 78 yards, after Jim Harbaugh left the game with a hip injury. Several defensive starters were out due to injury, including linebacker Junior Seau, strong safety Rodney Harrison, free safety Michael Dumas and cornerbacks Darryll Lewis, Jimmy Spencer and Terrance Shaw. Cornerback Fakhir Brown and free safety Jason Perry, both rookies, picked up the slack in the secondary with 10 and five tackles, respectively, while helping to hold the Broncos to no touchdowns in Mile High for the first time since Nov. 9, 1986, also against San Diego.

CHARGERS SPANISH RADIO BROADCASTERS

All San Diego Chargers games can be heard in Spanish on XEXX 1420 AM. XEXX covers all of San Diego County and northern Baja California.

JORGE VILLANUEVA

Jorge is in his seventh season as the Spanish voice of the Chargers. He has handled play-by-play since the Chargers went to their first Super Bowl following the 1994 season. He also hosts the sports segment on the daily newscast on KBNT 19 Univision, the Hispanic speaking TV station based in San Diego. Villanueva has 17 years of experience in sports journalism. In addition to football, his play-by-play experience includes soccer, baseball and boxing. He also handled play-by-play duties in Spanish for San Diego State Aztecs football team in 1995.

EFREN DOMINGUEZ

Dominguez is in his ninth season as color analyst for the Spanish broadcasts of Chargers games. Since 1994, Dominguez has worked with Villanueva on the Chargers Spanish radio team. Dominguez also anchors the Halftime and Postgame Shows, with live interviews with players and coaches. He also served with Villanueva as an announcer for the San Diego State Aztecs Football Spanish radio broadcasts in 1995.

CHARGERS ON KFMB

All of the Chargers' preseason, regular season and postseason games are broadcast on 760 KFMB-AM, while all of the team's preseason games are televised by KFMB-TV, Channel 8. KFMB-TV also is the home of the Chargers' regular-season games because CBS Sports purchased the rights to televise the NFL's American Football Conference games beginning in 1998 and extending through 2005.

KFMB-TV Sports Director Ted Leitner handles the play-by-play on the Chargers' radio broadcasts. Former Chargers player and coach and current Channel 8 sportscaster Hank Bauer is the color commentator.

In addition to the preseason telecasts, KFMB-TV produces programming to promote the Chargers, the players and the team's extensive community activities.

TED LEITNER

Outspoken, outrageous, always willing to go out on a limb, Ted Letiner's reports on KFMB-TV News 8 at 5:00 and 6:30 p.m. are must see TV for San Diego sports fans. After 21 years, he is still shaking up San Diego with his unique brand of sports reporting and unabashed opinion. He also sends shockwaves through the airwaves as a talk show host on KFMB-AM on weekday mornings from 6:00 to 10 a.m., and as play-by-play announcer for the Chargers and Padres. This is his second stint as play-by-play announcer for the Chargers, having handled the duties previously from 1985-86. He has served as News 8's Sports Director since 1978 and was recognized as the nation's "most popular sportscaster" in the top 50 markets in a national survey.

HANK BAUER

A former running back, special teams captain and coach for the Chargers, Bauer handles the color commentary on the team's radio broadcasts. These days, Hank is tackling sports on News 8 weeknights at 5:00, 6:30 and 11 p.m. For 11 years, he was a running back for the Chargers as well as one of the team's all-time top performers on special teams. He set a single-season record with 52 tackles in 1982, the year he was named team captain. He also scored 21 touchdowns in his career. In 1983, a broken neck forced Hank off the field. After coaching for the Chargers for four years, he made his move to broadcasting and eventually became a sports reporter at News 8 in 1987.
